New Cause For Hope

The way of life in our clamorous times, the cynicism, the despair in some areas, born of the horror bombs, the harsh every-day realities, often cause us to lose contact with the warm humanities and the quiet, ceaseless service of dedicated people who continue their extraordinary tasks for the greater good and welfare of their fellowmen.

This is exemplified in these parts by the establishment of a Research Center, the first in the world, devoted exclusively to the blind, at Newton.

New cause for hope and encouragement of the blinded, and workers among the blind around the world, was generated with the official launching last week of the American Center for Research in Blindness and Rehabilitation. It was founded by Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, internationally known for his work with the blind.

It is under the direction of Father Carroll and Leo H. Riley M.D., long associated with work for the blind.

Global attention already has focused on this amazing research center in our midst. It is the first laboratory in the world devoted exclusively to the medical, psychological, sociological and rehabilitation problems of the blind. The Center is unique, sorely needed, and is securely based on the 27 years of experience of Boston's Catholic Guild for All the Blind which recently was moved to 770 Centre Street in Newton.

The new research center proposes to develop the world's most extensive library on every aspect of blindness. It enjoys proximity to the records and experiments at St. Paul's Center for Rehabilitation located on property that abuts the new Center; availability to Boston's Catholic Guild for All the Blind, recently located in Newton; and access to Boston's hospital, medical, social agency complexes, to related departments in universities and colleges, as well as vital private research facilities along Greater Boston's famed Route 128.

Of course, this great Center is the servant of all mankind, but citizens in this immediate area should be cognizant of the significant event which has transpired in our area, of the unique honor it bestows upon us, and the courageous new concept it represents.

We laud the humane achievement of Father Carroll. May his great capabilities and those of Dr. Riley be expanded and may their service to our courageous blinded fellowmen and women be carried forward to complete fulfillment.

For Commutaport

Editor,
The Graphic:

The time has come for Newton to shed its conservative thinking and its habit of waiting for other areas to adopt and utilize new ideas. Newton should have its own airport for private aircraft. With the advent of today's comparatively low-priced lightplane Newton's population will be and already is the group that is learning to fly and owning private airplanes.

In short, my proposal calls for the construction of a commutaport. Equally important at the Newton Commutaport would be helicopter transportation to Boston. Thus, Newton's Boston-bound commuters would be whisked into the Hub in a matter of minutes. I feel that the now under-construction Prudential Center should be built with a helicopter landing center to provide for such future transportation methods.

I think that the proposal should be considered and looked into to see just how feasible a Newton Commutaport is.

The day of the airborne commuter has arrived and we must respect it and provide for its existence.

RICHARD A. REINGOLD,
West Newton.

WHEREAS, Our strength as one nation under God depends on our unity and informed vigilance as a free people, and

WHEREAS, Brotherhood Week is in the tradition established by our forefathers and enunciated in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution and deserves the wholehearted cooperation of all people of our City.

Mario DiCarlo, clerk of the Chestnut Hill Towers project, who eventually appeared as representative of the petitioner, explained that an underground water pipe was intended as a substitute for the existing retaining wall, and declared that it would remove and control the water so that it could not enter the Moody street homes.

Called on for an opinion, Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt said that his department designed the drainage installation 15 years ago at the request of the people in the area. He remarked that since that time there was an apparent change of mind.

Alderman Wendell R. Bauckman, presiding, urged the objectors to discuss the matter the Legislature be petitioned in an adjacent room with the petitioner and the public works director, explaining that the hearing's purpose was to give the board an understanding of the proposal, and that the members now understood the situation. The suggestion was accepted, but with some reluctance, both Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Blue saying that the get-together was unnecessary as their mind was already made up.

Clergy Institute

"One reason for this wide influence," explained Dr. Diamond, "is that Buber does not engage in special pleading for the cause of religion. Buber's imaginative development of the I-Thou theme, rooted in the experience of love, shows why it must ultimately lead to relation with God, the eternal 'Thou.'

Dr. Diamond stated that "Tolerance is not the key to authentic interaction between Christians and Jews, but that if genuine interchanges are to take place, we must learn a religious respect for each other. We must learn to appreciate one another in the face of differences of the kind that Buber emphasizes. It behoves us all to hold vigilantly fast to our own true faith."

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman chaired the Institute and welcomed the assembly on behalf of Temple Shalom. Rev. Myron W. Fowell, secretary, Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference gave the opening prayer. The invocation at the luncheon was offered by Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., Dean of the College of Business Administration, Boston College. Rev. Roland W. Junkins, executive secretary of the Newton Council of Churches and Minister, Centenary Methodist Church, brought greetings on behalf of the Council.

HAND CRAFTED

Teen Time Topics

By DOT DUNN

Dear Dot,

I am going to my first formal next week. Will you please tell me how to present my date with a corsage? G. B.

Dear G. B.,

Some girls prefer to receive their flowers early. If this is so with your date, you should have the florist deliver the corsage. Of course it's much more personal if you give it to her yourself. If you bring it along with you, give it to her when you greet her.

Dear Dot,

I'm taking a boy to a theatre party, which our girl's club is sponsoring. How do I handle the ticket situation? M. N.

Dear M. N.,

It would be a very good idea to give them to your date before leaving your house. You could say something like this, "Thought you'd better keep these." You can always give them to him during your drive to the theatre. Just be certain that he has them in his possession before he is ready to use them.

Dear Dot,

What sort of gift is proper to give a boy I like very much? His birthday is next month. He'll be 16. K. L.

Dear K. L.,

There is still time to knit him a pair of socks, that is if you knit. His favorite record is always a treat. A book is a welcome gift. A box of goodies, baked by you, will really hit the spot. Don't forget that it's very important to keep the price down and the gift simple.

Dear Dot,

Our high school hockey team is playing one of the most important games of the year. It takes place in a town about 25 miles away. Many boys, with their parents permission, will be driving. One boy, whom both my parents and I like a lot, has asked me to go with him in his car. My problem is my parents. They won't let me go. Do you feel this is fair? S. S.

Dear S. S.,

Perhaps your parents are thinking of the reports which so often appear in the papers about some pretty terrifying accidents. Have you tried any other method of transportation? How about the students, with the consent of the faculty, chartering a bus or two? What fun it could be! Maybe some of you could convince a few parents, interested in the game, to drive groups in their cars. Don't give up. Be patient with mom and pop. I am sure you'll soon realize that they made their decision with your well-being in mind.

Dear Dot,

I just hate to wear glasses. I've had them on since I was five. Next month I'll be going to my first prom. I'll be appearing in a lovely formal gown. I've decided not to wear my glasses because I feel that I'll look a mess. This is causing a real commotion in our house. What do you think about it? R. C.

Dear R. C.,

Try to release the panic button. Honestly now, if you do need glasses, you'd better be sure to wear them or you really will look a fright. Everyone knows you wear them. Just think, you wouldn't even look like you. How would you be able to recognize your friends? Don't you want to have some fun at this important event? With all the good looking frames today, how can you resist flattery new pair? Have you explored the possibility of contact lenses?

Speers General Manager Of Weekly Press Association

George Speers of 34 Hurley Place, Newton Centre, has been named general manager of the New England Weekly Press Association, a professional organization representing 162 weekly newspapers in the six-state area. The announcement was made this week by NEWPA President G. Stewart Bennett, publisher and editor of the Manchester (Vt.) Journal, following the annual mid-winter conference of the organization held in Boston.

Mr. Speers will succeed Professor Robert Baram of Boston University who has served as general manager of the organization for the past eleven years. Prof. Baram is retiring from the position in May to devote more time to teaching and writing. Baram is also a well-known news commentator on station WGBH (channel 2), a feature writer for New England Printer and Lithographer, and authors a syndicated political column for many weekly newspapers in Massachusetts.

Under Baram's direction the New England Weekly Press Association has grown from less than a dozen newspapers to its present 162 membership, and is recognized as one of the finest weekly newspaper organizations in the country.

Beginning in June the NEWPA headquarters will be located at Northeastern University where Speers has served as director of the University Press Bureau for nearly 14 years. A committee of newspapermen has been appointed to assist in the transfer of the executive management from the Boston University based headquarters to Northeastern. The committee includes Paul K. Niven of the Brunswick (Maine) Record, Howard Fowler of the Mansfield News, Herbert Austin of the Wellesley Townsman, and Richard W. Davis of Transcript Publications. Fowler and Austin are former presidents of NEWPA and Niven and Davis are present members of the board of directors.

Mr. Speers is a graduate of Northeastern University with a bachelors degree in English Journalism and a master's degree in education. He also holds a masters degree in journalism from Boston University.

A resident of Newton for the past 15 years where he has lived with his wife and two daughters, he is currently on the Board of Directors of the Oak Hill Improvement Association.

He is an active member of a number of professional and other groups including the Press Club of Boston, the Publicity Club of Boston, Public Relations Society of America, American College Public Relations Association, the Huntington Avenue (Boston) Y.M.C.A., the Appalachian Mountain Club, American Civil Liberties Union, and the Northeastern University Alumni Association.

The boys also have to secure their parents' endorsement. The award is given to encourage Catholic Boy Scouts to advance in religion and in the service of God.

Strong Regional Agencies Seen As River Need

Charles River pollution can be checked only by stronger regional agencies, Mrs. Arno H. Heyn, secretary of the Oak Hill Improvement Association, told the Newton Conservators at their annual meeting in the Newton Highlands Workshop.

Mrs. Heyn, a Conservator director, declared that the separate municipalities bounded by the river cannot or will not do the job of forcing control of industrial waste, general dumping, sewerage, fill, and shoreline crossing construction.

She urged the members individually to give vigorous backing to the regional planning proposals before the Legislature.

Although Newton does not empty sewerage into the Charles, she said, recent dumping at Newton Lower Falls, shoaling at the Riverside highway piers, filling the flooded meadow at the Waltham line with raw or incinerated waste, and proposed new intensive construction at the river bank are hazards to the best use of the river as a natural asset.

The Conservators re-elected Benjamin F. Shattuck as president, Allard M. Valentine as treasurer, and Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., as clerk. Mrs. Frank A. Howard and Mrs. William P. Ripley were elected to the

Graphic Thanked For Aid To Vets

Appreciation for The Newton Graphic's co-operation in publishing information of interest to veterans and their families has been expressed in a letter to the editor from Charles N. Colatatos, state commissioner of veterans services.

"During the past year your newspaper, your editors and the members of your staff have been most co-operative," the letter stated.

"Without the coverage that you have extended to the veterans, they would not have been properly apprised as to programs of vast importance to them.

"Your understanding and complete support has not only been appreciated by us, but also by the veterans themselves."

Board of Directors, which includes the corporation officers and Jack M. Roberts, James H. Lewis, Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, Dr. Augustus Thordike, David W. Skinner and Irving Usen.

CROSS AT CORNERS

Political Highlights

But he also is a keen student of the State government. He has devoted great deal of time to drafting corrective legislation designed to close loopholes in the law. Those efforts, of course, never received the same attention as the exposure of "sweetheart deals."

An interesting contrast in the techniques employed by Brooke and Perry as fighters against corruption is that Brooke has used the soft sell and Perry the hard sell. Both have been effective.

Perry should be a tremendous asset to Brooke and in his capacity as consultant on State problems should be in a position to help achieve better government in Massachusetts.

Attorney General Brooke startled many Beacon Hill observers when his ruling forced the cancellation of a big testimonial dinner planned for State Insurance Commissioner Eugene Farnham, a fellow Republican.

His appointment of Perry as an unpaid consultant and adviser on State problems is equally significant. It means that Brooke, the top Republican office-holder on Beacon Hill, intends to do exactly what he said in his campaign he would do.

Brooke and Perry are two crusading public leaders who may be able to rebuild the GOP in Massachusetts.

Peabody Gained In Stature During 1st Month In Office

Governor Peabody, after his first full month in office, appears to be moving carefully and cautiously in some areas, but boldly and forcefully in others.

Despite his rocky start when he lined up on the losing side in a fight over the House Speakership, Peabody seems to have established a reasonably harmonious working relationship with the Legislature.

While he obviously is making up his own mind and shaping his own decisions, Peabody is giving careful heed to the counsel of experienced Democratic leaders in the Legislature such as Senate President John E. Powers.

One result of the close working relationship between Peabody and Powers is that the Democratic Governor probably will not often be placed in the awkward position of vetoing a bill passed by the Democratic Legislature.

When Peabody is opposed to a measure which appears to be destined for enactment by the Legislature, he will confer with Powers, under an arrangement the two have quietly worked out, and in most instances Powers will undertake to have the bill killed in the Senate so that it will not reach the Governor's desk.

It's possible, of course, that a situation could develop in which Peabody and Powers would have conflicting views on a bill. In such an event they presumably would endeavor to iron out privately the differences between them.

Powers is probably the foremost expert on State government in Massachusetts, and Peabody is shrewdly taking advantage of the Senate president's broad experience and his extensive knowledge of State problems.

Beacon Hill observers have gradually revised their appraisal of Peabody during the past few weeks.

When Peabody jumped headlong into the fight over the Speakership and tried to block the reelection of Speaker John F. Thompson, many newsmen concluded that Peabody would be an inept Governor who would blunder into one troublesome predicament after another.

They are now disposed to the belief that while Peabody may make some mistakes of political judgment, he also is likely to prove a strong Governor of the stamp of Paul A. Dever and Christian A. Herter.

One thing State House onlookers have gradually come to learn about Peabody is that he is totally unconcerned about past custom and tradition. If he believes something should be said or done, he'll do or say it.

The fact that Governors in the past have avoided involvement in a battle for the Speakership as they would the plague made no impression on Peabody.

Peabody used faulty judgment in announcing in advance that he would recommend mercy for any murderer sentenced to die in the electric chair. But that's what he intended to do, and he said so with his customary candor.

Where Peabody undoubtedly will continue to make mistakes of that nature, he also is standing absolutely firm on his convictions and is refusing to yield to any form of pressure.

What will happen in the first head-to-head clash between Peabody and the Governor's Council is a matter of interesting conjecture. It now seems improbable that Peabody will yield to the Council members or trade with them as did ex-Governors Volpe and Furcolo on occasions.

Notwithstanding his occasional errors in political judgment, Endicott Peabody has grown in stature since assuming the Governorship.

Conflict-Interest Law Hits Town Officials

Town officials who have appealed for a two-year suspension of the so-called Conflict of Interest Law, which is scheduled to become effective May 1, have received a cold and unbending reaction from Governor Peabody, Attorney General Brooke, Senate President Powers and other legislative leaders.

Messrs. Peabody, Brooke and Powers believe that if the Conflict of Interest Law is a good one, it should become operative on May 1. They can't quite see why conflicts of interest should be permitted for an additional two years.

So a lot of town officials will be forced to make some abrupt adjustments in less than three months. Some of them probably will resign from their town posts in order to carry on their private businesses without violating the law.

When the Conflict of Interest Law was first proposed, it was aimed primarily at the State government.

It has since developed, however, that there are far more conflicts of interest in the small towns than on Beacon Hill.

Legislators who voted for the Conflict of Interest Bill with the idea of closing any loopholes in the laws covering the conduct of the State's affairs, have been astonished at learning what has been happening in the towns.

Actually, the vast majority of town officials who will be hit by the Conflict of Interest Law are honest and honorable men, who saw nothing wrong with what they were doing, operated strictly above board and made no attempt to conceal their two-fold activities.

In many communities the people themselves were fully aware that elective or appointive town officials also did business with the town in their capacities as private businessmen. The people themselves saw nothing improper in this. And in most instances there was nothing improper.

Under the Conflict of Interest Law, however, it will be both improper and illegal for a businessman to sell anything to or do business with a town agency in which he is an official.

That probably will cause the resignation of a good many town officials who will not be prepared to sacrifice their own private business interests in order to continue serving the town, usually in an unpaid capacity.

Meanwhile, the protests of town officials concerning the hardships the Conflict of Interest Act will impose upon them are making State officials all the more determined that the law not only will go into effect May 1 but also will be enforced starting that date.

Kelly Out of Order In Scatter-Gun Blast

Former Attorney General Francis E. Kelly was on solid ground in supporting a bill for the abolition of pre-primary State Conventions, but he was clearly out of order in the remarks he made while advancing his arguments.

The law making it mandatory for the two political parties to hold conventions and endorse State tickets was originally passed by a solid bloc of Republicans and a few Democrats who believed they personally might be aided by the convention system of picking tickets.

It probably would be a healthy step if the pre-primary convention system were wiped out and the State returned to the old method of letting the candidates fight it out for party nominations in popular primaries.

But Peabody, Powers and Beacon Hill observers generally recognize that there is scant likelihood of obtaining passage of a convention repeal measure. Enough Democrats would join with the Republicans to defeat the bill.

A good many Democrats participate in the State Conventions only because the law requires that such conclaves be held. Kelly knows or should know this so that his scatter-gum blast at Democrats who take part in State Conventions was unwarranted.

MAYOR DECLARES HEART MONTH—February as "Heart Month" in Newton is declared by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, as left to right, Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, Advance Gifts Chairman; Mrs. B. Alden Thresher, Heart Fund General Chairman; and Richard H. Rosen, Heart Sunday Chairman, look on.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By PAUL SHAPIRO

Dr. Calvin A. Vanderwerf, chairman of the chemistry department at the University of Kansas and lecturer for both the National Science Foundation and the American Chemical Society, spoke before an enthusiastic assembly of young high school scientists Tuesday, January 29, on the topic, "Science Is Here to Stay."

Dr. Vanderwerf, who received his Ph.D. in chemistry at Ohio State University and has co-authored two textbooks, one of which is presently being used at Newton High, said that young educated talent is currently the most sought-after wealth on earth.

He described science as "a method, a set of attitudes, and a spirit man has developed to unravel the mysteries of the universe around him" and emphasized the fact that in the last century more achievements have been made in the field of science than in all the previous ages man has existed on the face of the earth.

Dr. Vanderwerf also made a series of predictions during his talk concerning future scientific progress. He predicted: longer and healthier lives through the conquest of the major diseases, the synthesis of living matter in a test tube by scientists, more leisure for man through more useful and efficient machines, and a solution to the problems of interplanetary space travel.

The professor concluded by saying that we are before a "golden age of science" and that we can be its "pioneers" if we are willing to be educated and trained.

The Sophomore Class Committee is currently selling gold-plated class pins in order to raise enough money to begin serious planning of the Sophomore Dance. Publicity committee for the project is Barbara Tarlow, Sandy Cuzzena, Jane Coleman, Ruth Aronson, Susan Clancy, Gail Galvin, and Eric Schichor. The sophomore class is also planning a Sophomore Talent Show for February 26.

The Newton High School Science Quiz Team defeated Watertown High School in a contest at Watertown, Thursday, January 24, by a score of 320 to 310.

Russell Curry delivered an entertaining talk entitled "It's A Date" to the students of Palmer House and Riley House Tuesday, January 22. Mr. Curry, director of the Curry School of Dance, presented to the assembly his views on social etiquette and dating.

The two plays to be presented by Newton High at the annual Newton-Newton South Drama Festival Friday, February 8, are "The Lute Song" by William Irwin and Sidney Howard, and "The Heiress" adapted from Henry James' Washington Square. Student director of "The Heiress" is Jerri Green and directing "The Lute Song" is Joyce Albin. Both plays are under the supervision and direction of Miss Helen M. Ryan and Mr. William B. Spink.

Newton High Sextet Is Still In Thick Of GBI Loop Race

Only overconfidence will hinder Newton High School from remaining in competition for the GBI hockey title after this Saturday's action. The Tigers take on a weak Rindge Tech sextet, which shows only one win in 11 outings this season.

The hotly fought battle among four teams for the league lead got even tighter after last Saturday's games, which saw Newton and Arlington win, while league-leading Brookline and Medford played to a 1-1 tie.

With three weeks remaining, Brookline (8-2) tops the league with 18 points, while the three others—Newton (8-3), Arlington (8-3) and Medford (6-4) are bunched in second place with 16 points.

Schwartz To Get Award For Work In Community

Irving Schwartz of Newton, executive vice-president of the Allied Container Corporation of Dedham, will be given the coveted National Community Service Award of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America at the Seminary's convocation and dinner in Miami Beach on Monday, Feb. 25.

The award, a bronze plaque, is conferred annually on a limited number of communal leaders whose "distinctive and continuing service to the community at large perpetuates the Jewish tradition of involvement in, and concern for, the well-being of all men."

Mr. Schwartz's record for public service is long. He is a member of the Board of Directors of Temple Mishkan Tefila of Newton, a trustee of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston, creator of the blood bank that bears his name at Beth Israel Hospital, and has been active in the affairs of Brandeis University and Israel Bonds.

A graduate of Tufts and long identified with alumni affairs, he was recently named a member of the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education Assistance.

He is married to the former Hannah Carlin, and they have two sons, Alan and Harold, and a daughter, Susan.

Noted Science Educator Visits High School Here

Dr. Calvin A. Vander Werf, president-elect of Hope College, Holland, Michigan, and present chairman of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Kansas, visited Newton High School for three days last week.

He examined facilities and laboratories at the school and gave an interesting and informative address to the science teachers and students at the school. Title of his talk was "Science Is Here To Stay."

Dr. Vander Werf highlighted the tremendous advances made by scientists during the past century, more than all that achieved in the centuries man has dwelt upon this earth.

The organization was formally organized at a New Year's weekend meeting while on a ski trip to Waterville Valley, N. H.

BRITISH COUPLE FIRST RESIDENTS OF WINDSOR GARDENS — Mr. William B. Saunders of Windsor Gardens presents key to Mr. and Mrs. David P. Squire, the first residents of the new multi-million dollar garden apartment development in Norwood.

First Residents Move Into Windsor Gardens

Windsor Gardens, the new multi-million dollar garden apartment development in Norwood, welcomed the first residents on January 29. Mr. and Mrs. David P. McQuire, who recently moved from London, occupy a terrace apartment in one of six buildings presently under construction on the 53-acre site.

The McQuires were attracted by not only the secluded country atmosphere, but the private Castle Valley Club boasting an Olympic pool, tennis and badminton courts, and other recreational facilities. It was their desire to be located in one of Boston's finest suburbs and yet be in close proximity to downtown Boston.

Mr. McQuire was born in London in 1934 and studied at Southall Technical College and Hatfield Technical College and is a graduate of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers. Starting in 1950 with Fairley Aviation Co., Ltd., a compulsory five-year apprenticeship was served with earnings of only $5.00 a week. Subsequent employment by the Royal Air Force, the English Electric Aviation Co. Ltd., in Hertfordshire brought this engineer to the United States in the summer of 1961. This temporary assignment with Nortronics involving gyroscopes gave Mr. McQuire insight to the technical advancements in the Boston area. But it was not chance that a former associate with English Electric Aviation, Arthur Natanson, employed by Wayne-George in Newton encouraged the McQuires to book passage on the Queen Elizabeth, and they docked on October 23, 1962, in New York City. Mr. McQuire's brother, John Frederick James McQuire, a pilot for BOAC, makes frequent visits and will serve as liaison with relatives in London.

Mrs. McQuire, also a native of London, had never been to the States before, and she is overwhelmed with the modern facilities — heating and air-conditioning with individual controls, all electric kitchen highlight of the program will be the presentation of the Ne Tamid Award to the following Scouts: Alan Berkowitz, Richard Bloom, Joseph Malson, Eric Malins and Maurice Gordon.

The Scout Charters will be presented to Morris Danovich, Temple Emanuel Institutional representative, by Douglas Crighton, scout executive of Norumbega Council, BSA.

Special invitations have been extended to the following Scout officials: Douglas Crighton, scout executive, Norumbega Council; Cooper Gilkes, asst. scout executive; Roy Bowman, asst. scout executive; Felix Knouth, scout commissioner; Roger Bloomfield, president of Norumbega Council; and George Collins, chairman, South District.

Serving on the Scout Planning Committee are: Rabbi M. David Weiss, associate rabbi at Temple Emanuel; Chester Rubin, youth activities director; Morris Danovich, institutional representative; Joseph Winer, scout master, Troop No. 225; Carl Frutkoff, packmaster, Pack No. 217; and Benjamin Lofchie, district commissioner, Norumbega Council.

Bowen Article Tells How Public Is Protected

Considerable material to foster public awareness of the protection provided by local sealers of weights and measures is contained in the current issue of "Scale Journal," nationally circulated magazine, and much of it was from the pen of Newton's sealer of weights and measures, J. Ellis Bowen.

The publication's first two pages feature an article he authored entitled "Help Yourself to Self-Help," and three pictures of Newton displays in the Newton department are included in a photo spread.

Mr. Bowen is a past president of the Massachusetts Weights and Measures Association, a past member of the executive committee of the National Conference on Weights and Measures sponsored by the National Bureau of Standards in Washington, is currently chairman of the Standing Committee on Education of the National Conference, and was founder and for five years editor of the Massachusetts' association's statewide newsletter.

They were: Rhonda Rubenstein of 35 Brackett road, Newton, Carolyn Oettinger of 372 Waltham street, West Newton, Mary McCarthy of 2081 Beacon street, Waban, Elizabeth Wahn of 70 White Oak road, Waban, Carla Valentine of 45 Arlington road, Auburndale, Irene Clevens of 52 Vaughn avenue, Newton, and Margery Flowers of 240 Harvard Circle, Newtonville.

fully equipped with range, refrigerator, dishwasher, disposal and other mechanical aids that they could not afford in Hertfordshire. She is most impressed with the shopping facilities, in the wide variety of merchandise, particularly the supermarkets that have such a great selection of foods. Mrs. McQuire professed that their address of 501 Buckminster Drive, the Castle Valley Club, and the Round Table Room will afford nostalgia and that this modern apartment will be their "castle."

Mr. McQuire was quick to point out that their decision to accept a position in Boston was prompted by the wonderful opportunity to work for Nortronics, and the promise to be part of a Technical Team. In England, the government does not subsidize development programs to the extent that this government does. To get security clearance for the majority of government contracts, and obtain a permanent visa, it was necessary to sign a declaration of intention of becoming a United States citizen.

The McQuires are now members of this Team of Technicians and Engineers in the Boston area who contribute to America's defense and future growth. Windsor Gardens will be a most convenient location for many other families who will be part of this team.

Scout Sabbath To Be Held At Temple Emanuel

Temple Emanuel of Newton will be the scene of the annual Boy Scout Sabbath of Norumbega Council Tomorrow (Friday) evening at 8:15.

Members of Troop 225, Cub Pack 217 and Explorer Post 217 will be honored, with Louis Kaplan, Peter Sagan, Jan Horowitz and Mitchell Geller participating in the service. Aleph awards will be presented to Benjamin Frutkoff, Jeffrey Bloom, Peter Dagansky and Samuel Weiner.

Mrs. McQuire, also a native of London, had never been to the States before, and she is overwhelmed with the modern facilities — heating and air-conditioning with individual controls, all electric kitchen has been received that Congressman Hastings Keith of West Bridgewater, and former Representative Francis W. Perry will be included among the guests.

The Rev. Louis E. Ford of Myrtle Baptist Church will give the benediction and also will be a head table guest.

New additions to the long list of patrons taking tables at the dinner are: Mrs. J. Henry Aalerud, Dino DiCarlo, James G. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miller, the Milton Young Republican Club, Paul Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Denison Satterfield, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Shattuck, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Welch, Henry J. Wilson, and Dover M. Wooten.

The Newton Lincoln Day Dinner is sponsored annually by the Newton Republican City Committee, Newton Republican Club, Newton Women's Republican Club, and the Newton Young Republican Club.

Sunday Meeting
Here To Feature
Racial Relations

"Inter-racial Relationships" will be the topic of an address to be given at next Sunday's meeting of Our Lady's Holy Name Society, Newton, by Professor Gary Brazier of Boston College.

Members of the society will receive Communion together at the 8 a. m. Mass and the meeting will be held immediately afterward in the parish school cafeteria.

Prof. Brazier is a native of Minnesota and served as a naval aviator during World War II. Following release from the Navy, he attended and graduated from Southern Illinois University. He continued with graduate studies in government at the University of Washington, Seattle. He also holds the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Government from the University of Minnesota.

While teaching at Western Reserve in Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Brazier served as moderator for the graduate chapter of the Intercollegiate Newman Clubs, whose membership was composed of students from several colleges in the Cleveland area.

He is presently Professor of Government at Boston College and resides in Newton with his wife and children.

During the business session to be conducted by President George McGoldrick, plans for the society's annual Ham and Bean Supper to be held Saturday, February 23, will be completed.

Galvin Seeking Stronger Civil Liberties Law

Newton's Sen. Michael J. Galvin continues to put up a relentless fight for more forceful laws in the field of civil rights and liberties.

His most recent action was carried out before the joint committee on State Administration, of which he is a member, when he urged the committee to vote favorably on his bill calling for enactment of a new law "with teeth in it."

The Senator told the committee that the newspapers carry almost daily reports of serious violations of our basic rights and liberties, and quite often by the very public officials who are supposed to protect them.

These abuses, he said, run all the way from police brutality to illegal displacement of families under the name of urban renewal and road building.

The program of "vigilant action" under the Galvin bill would be directed by the attorney-general into five basic fields of constitutional liberties, including the problems of due process of law in governmental agencies, and authorizes him to create local, regional and state-wide advisory committees to assist him in the work.

Big Surplus Fund Will Keep Tax Rate Down

Tax Line Holds Despite Record Budget

School Board 6-3 In Favor Of Sales Tax

By a vote of 6-3 the Newton School Committee went on record Monday night as favoring the passage of a legislative bill calling for the enactment of a 2 per cent sales tax, the proceeds of which would be used to increase the funds distributed by the State to the various cities and towns to help meet their educational costs.

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, who sits as a member of the School Board, along with Committeemen Manuel Beckwith and Edwin Hawkridge cast the three votes against the resolution.

Gibbs, Beckwith and Hawkridge explained that they favor the principle of the bill but object to the formula it provides for distributing the money.

One Dead In Car Crash, 3 Hurt In Falls

One Natick man was killed and another seriously injured early Tuesday morning when their car crashed the abutment in the west-bound lane of the Worcester Turnpike at Centre street, Newton Highlands. Police reported that four persons were fatally injured in similar accidents at the same spot in the past three years.

Dead on arrival at Newton-Wellesley Hospital was John McGee, 58, an employee of a Wellesley restaurant, a passenger in the car. Its driver, badly hurt, was McGee's employer, George A. Porter, 30. His condition was listed as fair later in the day.

In a Sunday accident, the car of Stephen N. Shapiro, 77 Redwood road, Oak Hill, struck a tree while making a turn into Centre street from Cotton street, Newton. Shapiro was treated for a lip injury at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Camp Fire Girls Lend Some Hands

City Clerk Monte Basbas enjoyed the wholehearted assistance of a corps of serious young ladies at City Hall last week as the task of alphabatizing the approximately 20,000 slips, resulting from the recent city-wide Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine drive, was undertaken.

Newton Camp Fire Girls donated their services to aid in the task, as one of their community contributions in conjunction with the 53rd birthday year of the organization. Among the groups participating in the project are those of Mrs. Floyd Warshauer, of Waban; Mrs. Peter Coogan, Newton Centre; Mrs. Michael Shulman, Oak Hill; Mrs. Gordon F. Vawter, of Waban; Mrs. George E. MacDonal, of Waban; Miss Mary E. Stofflet and Mrs. Stephen Cupoli, of Auburndale.

Four Students Honored ...

Walls Of Prejudice Are Crumbling, Says Brotherhood Speaker

"In this country the 'walls' of prejudice are beginning to crumble and the barriers to brotherhood are being broken down," Dr. Ray Johns, general secretary of the Boston YMCA, declared last night, Wednesday, February 13, at the Brotherhood Dinner of the First Unitarian Church in West Newton.

Four Newton students were honored at the dinner, for living and demonstrating brotherhood values.

Two of the students, from Newton South High School, were: Alice Kyhl, 46 Hickory Cliff Rd., Newton Upper Falls; and Thomas Fallaw, 111 Her-

Plan To Aid Retired City Help Is Voted

On the recommendation of Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, the School Committee this week adopted a resolution favoring the acceptance of a legislative act which would allow the City of Newton to provide life and health insurance to retired municipal and school employees at half cost.

Within a few weeks the Mayor will recommend that the Board of Aldermen formally accept the permissive legislative act and at the same time appropriate $39,000 to cover the city's estimated share of the expense involved in the plan for aiding retired workers.

Newton GOP Told Slavery Not Ended

Slavery was not abolished by the Civil War and will always be with us so long as the Federal Government's ever-mounting intervention in fields properly reserved to the states and cities continues to exercise mastery over us by its massive spending program, members of various Newton Republican organizations were told at the Lincoln Day dinner held last Saturday in Lyons Hall, Boston College.

The speakers were Attorney General Edward W. Brooke and Republican Senator Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska. It was the latter, introduced by

Plans Advance For 1st Baptist Construction

Work will begin early in March on a quarter-million-dollar Christian Education Center adjoining the 183-year-old First Baptist Church of Newton Centre, according to an announcement by the Rev. Aldermen May Make Some Revisions

Pupil Population Growth, Wage Hikes Boost Budget

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs today will send to the Board of Aldermen a proposed record-high $25,717,723 budget to finance the operations of the municipal government and the school department for the present year.

Despite the fact that the budget to be submitted by the Mayor will be about $1,343,000 greater than the one approved for 1962, the indications are that there will be only a small increase in Newton's tax rate.

Where the Mayor feared a few weeks ago that the tax rate might jump as much as $3 or $4, it now appears that the hike will be under $2 and may be even less than $1.

A big surplus fund will enable the Mayor to hold the rate close to its present figure.

Mayor Gibbs also is planning to recommend to the Aldermen that the construction of new streets and the installation of new sewers be financed this year out of current tax revenue.

It will be the first time in municipal employees as well as school teachers are proposed such a procedure has been used in the budget prepared followed if his proposal is approved.

Ordinarily bond issues are floated to pay for from teachers, would be added to the school department for the present year.

2 West Newton Scouts Achieve Eagle Ranking

Bruce Jones and Andrew Barrs, members of Troop-C sponsored by the men of the Second Church, West Newton, recently were awarded the rank of Eagle Scout, highest in Boy Scouting, at ceremonies held at the church parish hall.

The Scouts received their Eagle pins from Dr. Ross Cannon, minister of the Second Church. The new Eagle Scouts then presented miniature Eagle pins to their mothers.

Walter Tower, active in the troop first as tenderfoot and eventually as Scoutmaster and now as a member of Norumbega Council, served as master of ceremonies.

Among the many guests were members of the Norumbega Council: Commissioner Felix Knauth, Advancement Chairman Ben Bean, North District Commissioner Gunnar Koskinen, past District Commissioner William Mark,

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Brooke And McCormack On Political Collision Course

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke and former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., prospective opponents in 1964, both drew the spotlight of public attention for different reasons this week.

Brooke, apart from carrying on his duties as the State's chief law officer, assumed the mantle as leader of the Republican party in Massachusetts and took the first step toward pumping new life and vigor into the GOP.

Mccormack politely declined a judgeship on the Massachusetts Superior Court bench proffered him by Governor Peabody and obviously has other plans for the future besides donning the stately black robes of a jurist.

Underlying these events were strong political implications and portents of things to come.

They added up to the probability that McCormack and Brooke are on a political collision course and to the possibility that the same may be true of McCormack and Peabody.

Robert Hybels, discussion leader, is chairman of the Department of Humanities at the Following are some of the questions that will be covered: Why do Algerians find the path of Castor's Cuba so tempting? Does the U.S.A. have enough of a stake in Algeria to warrant sending her aid? If so, what kind of aid?

To what extent should the U.S.A. cooperate with France in aiding Algeria? Should the U.S.A. encourage private investment in Algeria?

Those who have not registered for the series may do so by calling the Registrar, Adult Education, Newton Junior College, WO 9-9570, or by attending the meeting.

In observance of February as National American History Month, the speaker took for a subject, "Washington and Lincoln Giants Among Men."

Ten leading civic groups in Waban have developed an unique campaign plan to make it possible for all residents of that area to be assured of any blood requirements for the coming year.

Adopting the slogan, "Waban Now Takes Care of Its Own," the plan calls for special arrangements made with the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, whereby if 500 blood donors can be secured in Waban, the Red Cross will provide all Waban residents with blood for their immediate families for the ensuing year.

The Waban Bloodmobile will be held on Thursday, March 7, at St. Phillip Neri Church, Beacon and Chestnut streets, Waban, from 12:45 to 6:45 p.m.

The idea of promoting blood donations for an individual community in Newton is a new departure. The Waban Civic Committee will cover their entire section with special promotional material including window poster, leaflet distribution through retail and business establishments, street banners, etc. In addition a telephone committee has been organized to cover the entire community by phone call contact.

The Waban civic groups sponsoring this important protective program includes: Angier PTA, Beethoven PTA, Episcopal Church Women (Parish of Good Shepherd of Waban), Holy Name Society (St. Phillip Neri), Men's Club (Union Church), Waban Baseball Association, Waban Improvement Association, Waban Neighborhood Club, Waban Women's Club, Women's Association (Union Church).

The principal objective of this drive is to secure a minimum of 500 blood donors at the St. Phillip Neri Clinic on March 7. However, arrangements have been made to accommodate every potential donor by making it possible to make appointments at the Red Cross Regional Blood Center, 314 Dartmouth street, Boston, during the week of March 4 to 8 and at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital from Sunday, March 3, to Sunday, March 10.

Committee members planning the clinic include: Mrs. Harry M. Brenner, blood program, Red Cross; John A. McCarty, executive secretary, Newton Chapter, Red Cross; Mrs. Stanley M. Epstein, residential chairman, blood program; Mrs. William L. Bruce.

Dr. Altman Addresses
Beth El Congregation

Speaking on "The Anglo-Jewish Tradition," Dr. Alexander Altman, Lowy professor of Judaic Studies at Brandeis University, was the feature of the third event in the "Joy of Living" series at Congregation Beth El-Ateret Israel, 561 Ward St., Newton Centre Sunday evening, Feb. 10.

Speakers for the remainder of the series will be Dr. Miriam L. Gavarin, Worcester Youth Guidance Center, Feb. 17, and Dr. Murray Levin, B.U. professor of Government, March 3.

The budget for the regular city departments and the water department totals $15,024.

The Aldermen undoubtedly will do some slight trimming of the municipal budget, as they have in the past. Under the law, however, they can make no reductions in the budget adopted by the School Committee.

Whether the Aldermen will go along with the Mayor's idea of paying for new streets and sewers out of current revenue instead of floating bond issues is uncertain.

Air Conditioning, Rooms To Fit Kids' Size Urged For New School

This city will have its first air-conditioned school building if a recommendation made at Monday night's meeting of the School Committee for the Horace Mann School on the Albemarle Playground site wins approval of the Board of Aldermen.

According to John A. Gilliland, director of business services for the public schools, air conditioning for schools is not unusual in other parts of the country. He explained that in recommending it for Horace Mann, the committee was looking ahead to the near future, when the present 180-day school year may be raised to one of 200 days, adding an

Exchanges Swap Experiences At Board Meeting

Three foreign students who are attending classes here, and the daughter of Alderman Ernest F. Dietz, who had some enjoyable schooling overseas, entertained the members of the Newton School Committee, during Monday night's meeting, with a recital of their experiences.

Judith Dietz had recently returned from an exciting six months during which she lived with a family in Detroit, Germany, and attended the local high school there. It was an enjoyable experience and a rewarding one, according to her account of it.

Two of the exchange students who spoke are attending Newton South High School. The third goes to Newton High.

The latter, Tomoko Sumakawa of Yokohama, Japan, is living with Mr. and Mrs. John Taplin of 15 Sewall street, West Newton. She said that at home students have little choice of courses, and most of the curriculum is mapped out for them.

Andrew Weezy, who is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jarrell of 173 Allen avenue, Waban, said that the boarding school he attends is at a great distance from his farming village, Uganda, Africa. There, he said, students go to a two-year prep school before college.

Teresa Porzecanski, a native of Montevideo, Uruguay, said students there go to school only four hours a day. She lives here with the J.D. Siegal family at 36 Nardell road, Newton Centre.

Newton-Medford Play Key Hockey Game Saturday

The hot four-team battle for first place in the GBI hockey league remains the same this week after Saturday's action, with the quartet of contenders all posting wins.

This Saturday, Newton takes on Medford in a "must-win" contest for both clubs. A loss for Newton would eliminate them from tournament play and from repeating as league champion. The Tigers, with 18 points are currently tied with Arlington and Medford in second place, two points behind league-leading Brookline.

Last Saturday, Newton eked out a 2-0 win over weak Rindge in a slow-moving contest. It was the locals' first shutout win of the season.

Tom Mechan, with an assist from Dick Toomey tallied a first-period goal, while Charlie Scammon, with an assist from Mike Goldbaum hit the nets in the third period. Goalie Newell had an easy day in the nets, being called on to make only six saves.

Only two more weeks remain in the GBI season.

Taxpayers Alerted

Words of truth have been pounded out in newspaper editorials, and sounded off on television, from the soapbox, the rostrum, on street corners and over the neighboring back fence. Human ears have absorbed much of this sound but conformity still shackles the majority of our citizens, however much their hackles bristle. For instance, conformity on the tax burden.

There long has been a notion afloat in the land that the American taxpayer is an inexhaustible source of hard cash, and that this source is a prime target for many officials.

Recently, however, a trend is developing among taxpayers which could indicate their desire to abdicate the dubious distinction of being the all-time soft touch.

In Massachusetts, the trend points to a taxpayers' revolt to reduce the gigantic property tax. The Legislature is being called upon to provide the funds to relieve the local tax burden; legislative spokesmen declare that the law-makers face a major task in financing state programs before undertaking new taxes to assist cities and towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Pocketbook may help decide the issue. They have an invaluable weapon, the vote. They also possess certain persuaders, the pen and the phone. To assist the persuaders, this newspaper publishes the names and addresses of your local elected representatives in the masthead on this page.

Comment has been considerable and complimentary since the newspaper inaugurated the policy of printing these names and addresses. A letter or phone call directly to your elected representatives produces amazing results. Issues other than taxes may concern some of our readers. The pen and the phone provide the answers.

Verily, the hand that lifts the phone or clutches the pen may possess power akin to that which rocks the cradle, and, for that matter, may well be the identical hand.

Political Highlights

McCormack, out of office only a month, already is contemplating a political comeback in 1964, according to persons close to him. The position on which he is expected to set his sights is the one he has just left, that of Attorney General. If he decides to run in '64, as it is assumed he will, there is no other place on the Democratic State ticket open to him.

Brooke's plans for '64 presumably are indefinite. Pressure undoubtedly will be brought on him to stand for the Governorship in the next State election. His friends predict that he will seek a second term as Attorney General in '64 and wait until 1966 to strike out for higher office.

If these appraisals and opinions are correct, then McCormack and Brooke are heading for a momentous election battle in 1964 which will sideline one of the two at least temporarily.

But McCormack isn't as much interested in gaining another two-year term as Attorney General as he is in placing himself in a position where he might run again for the U.S. Senate in 1966, when Leverett Saltonstall either will be standing for reelection or retiring from office.

Mccormack's ambition is to sit in the U. S. Senate. That desire has not been dulled or lessened by the defeat he suffered in his clash with Edward M. Kennedy.

Mccormack obviously would have to get by 1964 before he can think about 1966. If Peabody wins reelection in '64, he might make the U. S. Senate his target in the '66 election.

Developments in the next 12 or 14 months may knock out all the political prophesies.

If Peabody does a poor job as Governor, Brooke might step up and challenge him next year.

Or Brooke might make so exceptional a record as Attorney General that McCormack might decide to sit out the 1964 election and wait until 1966. That is not a likely decision because a politician out of office for four years is apt to be forgotten.

Another public figure who may have to be reckoned with in 1966 is Boston Mayor John F. Collins.

At the present time it is taken for granted that Collins will be reelected next November. It is similarly assumed that Collins will be standing for either the Governorship or the U. S. Senate in 1966.

A number of prominent Democrats, including U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy, could be bumping heads in '66.

Present political speculation, however, is centered on next year.

Conflicts of Interest Now Beset Legislators

What is a conflict of interest under the new law which becomes effective May 1?

That is a question which is troubling public officials across the Commonwealth, most of whom serve in towns at little or no compensation.

A police officer in one town has been advised that it would be a conflict of interest for a firm he operates to paint highway safety lines for the community which employs him as a policeman.

Four legislators, who in private life are undertakers, recently voted "present" on a bill which would exempt funeral homes from certain zoning restrictions.

This caused a lifting of eyebrows since it is believed to be the first time any lawmakers have abstained from voting on a measure because it affected their own professions.

By itself the funeral parlor bill was not an important one, and it was rejected by the House of Representatives. But it reflected a new line of thinking within the legislative chambers.

It also pointed up rather sharply the issue of whether legislators in other fields and occupations will follow the example of the four undertakers or will continue voting on matters which have a relation to their own interests.

A question which is the subject of hot dispute is whether it is a conflict of interest for a lawyer-legislator to vote for a salary increase for a judge before whom he practises.

Back through the years legislators, who also were practising attorneys, sponsored and fought for the enactment of bills to give higher salaries and bigger pensions to judges.

In most instances the salary increases were warranted, for judges in Massachusetts today are not over-paid in light of what is expected and demanded of them.

But it was sickeningly obvious that some lawyer-legislators were noisily spearheading efforts to raise judicial salary levels in order to curry favor with jurists before whom they expected to be trying cases.

If town officials are to be told, as they have been and are being told, that they must adhere strictly to the new conflict-of-interest law, they're certain to demand that legislators do the same.

A town official, who is forced to choose between his public position and his private business interests, is likely to scream long and loudly if lawyers-legislators continue to vote for judicial pay raises.

Since most legislators have outside business or professional occupations, there will be very few who will not find in the course of a year that some bill poses a conflict of interest for them.

It would be a healthy thing if lawyers in the Legislature disqualify themselves from courts, if insurance and real estate brokers and salesmen did the same on measures of concern to their industries and if all legislators followed a similar code.

Whether that will actually happen is something only time will determine. In view of all the furor over the conflict-of-interest law, however, the legislators will find that the votes they cast will be the subject of closer scrutiny.

Both Leverett Saltonstall and the late Paul A. Dever were elected to the Governorship two years after they had been nosed out in close races for the Lieutenant Governorship.

Ex-Governor Volpe may also be waiting in the wings for another campaign. Volpe's political plans are something of a mystery. Some persons close to him predict that he will be back on the hustings early next year. Other Republicans are disposed to discount his chances of achieving a successful comeback.

Former Congressman Curtis, a potential vote-getter, has made it evident that he intends to stay alive politically. Curtis, of course, could have the nomination for Governor.

This is predicated on the assumption that Attorney General Brooke will not desire to stand for the Governorship.

Two political and personal friends — Senate Republican Leader Philip A. Graham of Hamilton and ex-Representative Francis W. Perry of Duxbury — shape up as potential adversaries for the gubernatorial endorsement at the 1964 GOP State Convention.

When Perry's friends tendered him a dinner following his defeat for the Lieutenant Governorship last fall, one of those who showed up for the affair was Senator Graham.

Lodge presently is concentrating on plans for the dinner to be held to pay off his campaign debts.

Some political observers surmise that he might lower his sights and run for the State Legislature in 1964. He would be a strong candidate for the State Senate if Senator Graham gives up his seat to seek higher office.

Civil War A Singing One, Lincoln Our Most Sung About President

The Civil War was the singingest in history, and Abraham Lincoln our most sung about President, according to Kenneth Bernard of Newtonville, professor of history at Boston University and a historian who has made music of the masses one of his foremost subjects for research.

The professor is currently contributing articles on Lincoln and Civil War music to "The Lincoln Herald" a magazine devoted to research in the field of his two favorite subjects.

"More than 600 Lincoln musical pieces were identified in a count taken about a decade ago," Dr. Bernard told the Lincoln Group of Boston, an organization of which he is president. "At least one song a year has been composed about him since his death," he continued, "and upon his death at least 50 funeral dirges were written."

Dr. Bernard said that one of the most popular songs of the Civil War, "We Are Coming Father Abraam," was written in response to the President's call for 300,000 more troops in 1862, and soldiers went into battle singing.

"We are coming, Father Abraam, Three hundred thousand more, From Mississippi's winding stream And from New England's shore."

"The plea for more troops inspired another war song that swept the country, 'The Battle Cry of Freedom,'" said Professor Bernard. "One regiment, after fearful losses in an assault, closed ranks with flags flying and sang its words: 'Yes, We'll rally round the flag, boys, We'll rally once again.'

"Lincoln," Professor Bernard said, "retained a personal fondness for that most southern of all songs, 'Dixie,' and it was one of the last songs he requested the week before his death."

The war songs of the North were so full of spirit and powerful that one Confederate officer was reported as saying, "Gentlemen, if we'd had your songs we'd have licked you out of your boots," Dr. Bernard said.

"Soldiers of both sides marched singing into the bloodiest of all American people everywhere." The schools attended by the recipients made the selections.

Richard Lowell, 13 Hillside Terr., West Newton, was master of ceremonies. The awards were presented by Bencion Moskow, 34 Hyde Ave., Newton Corner, chairman of the board of trustees.

Dr. Leslie T. Pennington, minister of the First Unitarian Church, gave the invocation; Rev. Louis E. Ford, minister of the Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton, gave the benediction.

"Discrimination still exists," declared Dr. Johns as principal speaker at the dinner. "We still have our University of Mississippi problems, our Little Rock problems, and our New Orleans problems. We even have some in Greater Tuscaloosa," Dr. Johns said.

"But an awakened public conscience is beginning to express itself and this needs to be continued," he added. Dr. Johns has been in social and intergroup work for more than thirty years. He spoke on "The Walls That Divide Us."

Jessie Deear, 62, of 55 Hillside street, West Newton, was treated for a possible hip fracture after a fall near 29 Fenlon street, Newton.

Donald A. Burdick, 70, of 324 Boylston street, Newton Centre, fell near his home and sustained a hand injury.

A house at 854 Beacon St. has already been removed to provide additional parking space at the rear of the property, and the new educational wing will extend somewhat onto this property.

Church officials expect the new structure to be completed on or near Nov. 1. To date, a total of $154,000 has been raised in cash and pledges for the wing. Mr. Fogg is hopeful, as are other officials, that virtually all the needed money will have been raised by early fall.

The building committee, headed by Mr. Fogg, includes Edson Fitch, Max Braunerger, Stanton Barclay, Mrs. Ronald Adams, Mrs. W. Donald Boyd, Robert Jigger and Henry Kendall.

The First Baptist Church of Newton Centre traces its roots back to early meetings in 1780. It has had three houses of worship in Newton Centre, all in the vicinity of Crystal Lake, which was long known as Baptist Pond.

wars," he continued. "Even the dough boy of World War I went singing and marching into battle. But by World War II this had changed completely. The American soldier knew what he was getting into, and it was nothing to sing about."

Asked if any of the singing-war songs were still heard, the professor pointed to "The Yellow Rose of Texas," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," and "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Could he name the greatest Civil War song of them all, he was asked. His reply: "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Waban Student Faculty Cited At Dartmouth

James R. Kingsdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Kingsdale, 19 Kelveden road, Waban, a sophomore at Dartmouth College, has been cited in response to the President's call for 300,000 more troops in 1862, and soldiers went into battle singing.

The Waban student was commended by assistant professor Rudolf F. Storch for a "personal and intelligent commitment to literary values."

Kingsdale also was informed that faculty citations are extremely rare and that they become a part of the permanent records of the college.

The Waban youth has been active at Dartmouth as a producer for the campus AM radio station. He was graduated from Newton South High School in June, 1961.

All-American Antiques At Homestead Show

An imposing display of American-made antiques will be featured at an open house in the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington st., Newton, on Sunday, Feb. 17, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Two interesting displays in the exhibit room, arranged by Mrs. Blake Tewksbury, will be the focal point for guests. One comprises fine examples of needle-point and petit-point embroideries, including a wall hanging depicting an historic scene. The other shows chair, pillow and table covers done by Mrs. Edward Ward of Auburndale.

Mrs. Lauriston Ward of Wellesley, who has been collecting glass since childhood, will exhibit some rare and unique items from her collection which is one of the finest in the country and includes American, English, Irish and Continental pieces of rare beauty.

In the Sandwich glass group are an early blown Sandwich bank and an emerald green lattice compote and cup plate, both of which are the only known existing examples in this color.

Decorating for the open house will be done by a committee of Jackson Homestead members. Mrs. Ralph Keyes will have attractive arrangements in the entrance hall and in the homey kitchen.

Mrs. John Coffin is planning the decorating for the antique-filled living room, while arrangements for the dining-room and bedrooms will be provided by Mrs. Kenneth C. Collinson and Mrs. D. Kenneth Dunmore.

Hostesses who will serve during the "punch and cookie" hour in the Homestead kitchen will be members of the Oak Hill Park Woman's Club, including Mrs. Saul Robinson, Mrs. Frederick Wood, Mrs. Edward Anderson, Mrs. Leonard Linsky, Mrs. Charles Conway, Mrs. Richard Hunter, and Mrs. James McCorry.

Junior hostesses appropriately gowned in early American dresses from the Jackson Homestead costume collection will be members of a local Girl Scout troop. Judith Lambert and Susan Dunnigan.

G.O.P. Outlook Bright In Eyes Of Sen. Cutler

Two events that came in the opening month of the 1963 session of the Legislature mark a turning point in the status of the Republican party in Massachusetts, in the opinion of Sen. Leslie B. Cutler of Needham.

First of all, the veteran woman legislator looks upon Sen. Phil Graham's election as Republican floor leader in the upper branch as definitely a good omen. She supported the Hamilton Senator throughout the many ballots, and believes that his leadership will fill a long-standing need in the party's affairs.

The other encouraging occurrence was the impressive ceremony in the House chamber when Attorney-General Edward W. Brooke took the oath of office. That, too, Sen. Cutler believes, was a great day for the Republicans. It was she who had the honor of nominating Mr. Brooke at the Worcester convention, and she had worked closely with him in his Primary and Election campaigns.

The session promises to be a busy one for Mrs. Cutler, the Senate President having named her to the following committees: Aeronautics, Metropolitan Affairs, Public Health and Public Welfare. Throughout her legislative career, matters related to those committees have been uppermost in her mind. She is not likely to pass up any hearings that come before any of them.

Trp. 219, One Of Newton's Oldest, Has Fine Record

Troop 219, one of the oldest Boy Scout groups in Newton and now in its 37th year, will observe Scout Sunday, with Troop 205, by accompanying their fathers to the regular morning service of the First Church in Newton, Congregational, on Sunday, Feb. 10.

Troop 219 is sponsored by that church, and meets there in the large dining hall Tuesday nights. It has a fully equipped cabin at the Nobscot Scout Reservation, Framingham, where the boys camp every weekend during the school year.

The boys are eligible for summer camping at Hidden Valley in Gilman, N.H., and at Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. Many of the 219 lads have earned merit badges at these camps, and it is a once-in-a-lifetime experience to go to the New Mexico ranch.

The troop's staff comprises dedicated fathers of Scouts: Dr. Edward Cutler, scout master; James Spink and Alden Haffermehl, assistant scout masters; George Collins, chairman of the South district; Mark Peterson, troop committee chairman and Warren Dean, treasurer. James Spink has charge of advancement and E. Lake Jones is institutional representative.

The following awards were made at a recent Court of Honor attended by 34 parents: Tenderfoot badges to Andrew Sonis, Edward McDonald, Warren Rosen, and Billy Keeler; merit badges for music to David Dobler; a Star Award to Kenneth Giles, and a life Scout Award to Clifton Dean, the latter presented by Eagle Scout Mark Peterson.

Do try to stick to one color for your entire outfit when ever possible. Use very little jewelry and be sure to keep it small and simple. The length of your skirts should always be a wee bit longer than the style suggests. Be certain to pick out very smooth materials. Short jackets are becoming, while three-quarter-length coats are out for you. Do stay away from flat heels, big hats and full skirts.

Dear Dot,

I'm just crazy about my best friend's older brother. He's only three years my senior. You'd think he was at least old enough to be our uncle from the way he treats us. Can I ever convince him that I'm really growing up?

Teen Time Topics

M. L.

Dear M. L.,

Why make the effort? Boys nearer your own age are really more fun. You have much more in common with them. You can act your age and you'll never have to get over a foolish inferiority complex. Just keep liking that big brother. Remember the most important thing is to be yourself. One day he may surprise you.

Dear Dot,

In a few weeks I am going to my first prom. I am most anxious to wear gloves. Is this correct, if so, what type may I wear? E. C.

Dear E. C.,

What a thrill to wear your first formal gown! It's almost as exciting to be able to complete your costume with your first opera-length (16-button) white gloves. Yes, this is correct. Don't forget to remove the gloves when refreshments are served!

Dear Dot,

I am 14 and a freshman in high school. There is a boy in my school whom I like very much. I've talked to him a few times, but when I see him again he doesn't seem to notice me. I do try to act friendly, yet he treats me as one of the group. I don't want to go steady with any boy but I would like to know this particular boy. Is there any way I can attain my goal? B. B.

Dear B. B.,

Yes there are a number of things you may try. Your personal grooming must be right up to par at all times. Don't just concentrate on your objective. Do attempt to win everyone you meet with a friendly smile and a genuine interest. Remember all boys like praise. Find out his favorite sport and his best school subject. Bone up on each of them. Ask him to your prom or give a party at your home and include him. If he still shows no signs of interest, re-direct your sights elsewhere.

Dear Dot,

I am 14. Last year only a few of our friends were the least bit interested in boys. This year it's just the reverse. Our favorite girls' club is now considered for little kids by most of the group who are going with boys. There are still a few of us, not the most unattractive ones either, who like boys but also think our club is just as important as it ever was. We are so confused. Can you help? D. M.

Dear D. M.,

Perhaps some of the crowd are really growing up faster. I agree with you that clubs are important for girls. Perhaps the aims of your club need to be changed to meet the growing interests of the whole group. How about working on projects which will aid the poor? Donating a number of hours as Candy Strippers in a hospital will always be a help to the community and to the individual. If you can motivate a common interest, you will soon be back with your old friends but in a more grown up way.

New Physical Ed. Course At Junior College

With the start of the second semester, Newton Junior College is inaugurating an unique physical education course for which students may receive one-half credit for each semester of work. The college is instituting this course to contribute to the fullest possible development of its students.

This physical education program will be based on a sequence of planned learning experiences involving utilization of the facilities of the Newton YMCA. Activities will include swimming, squash, badminton, social dancing, field hockey for women, tennis, and similar events. In addition, this collegiate level course will be available for transfer to other institutions of higher education.

The instructors are Robert Saunders, who received a BS in Physical Education and a Master's Degree in Education from Boston University; Thomas J. Sexton, both a BS and Master's Degree in Physical Education from Boston University; and Miss Constance Cutrumbes, who comes to the college with an AB degree from State College in Lowell and a Master's Degree in Health and Physical Education from Boston University.

Dr. Arthur G. Miller, consultant for this program, is professor of Physical Education and chairman of the department at Boston University School of Education. He is also author of several college texts on physical education.

Marcus, 52 Greenlawn avenue, Newton, a junior at Roxbury Latin School, West Roxbury.

The teacher is Vinson W. Bronson, Jr., a teacher of physics at Newton South High School.

150 high school sophomores and junior and 50 science and mathematics teachers from the Greater Boston area have been chosen to attend the two-day symposium sponsored by M.I.T. in conjunction with the International Business Machines Corporation and the U.S. Army Research Office.

The students were chosen on the basis of aptitude in science and engineering, the teachers for participation in professional organizations, summer training programs, and extra curricular student-teacher events.

Sales Tax

The action was strictly academic since the sales tax measure appears headed for certain defeat in the State Legislature.

How Newton Earned Fine Reputation For Schools

(Ed. Note: This is another in a series of articles being published by The Graphic on Newton's public schools and the efforts being made to provide a higher quality of education for the city's children.)

There is an often accepted motion that "good" schools are those which succeed in getting their students into college while "poor" ones do not. That Newton has earned a reputation for fine schools is true, and people do move to Newton for that reason. However, it should be pointed out that Newton's school staff members thoughtfully reject an esteem built exclusively on the high percentage of students who go on to college. For in making a sound judgment about schools, many criteria must be considered.

Moreover, guidance counselors, those most directly involved in the college admissions process, emphasize that schools or school personnel by themselves cannot assure college entrance. That they help students by teaching them well, by furnishing information about colleges, and assisting them in making wise choices is quite another matter indeed.

Currently nearly everyone is aware of the recent and intense concern about college entrance and college in general. Via radio, television, and print there are constant reminders of the enlarging numbers of youth who will seek admission to college in the years ahead, of the need for teachers to teach them, of our nation's dire need for intellectual manpower, of presently inadequate facilities, — and of the money needed as a corrective. Individually and together, colleges advance their pleas for financial aid to their alumni, to foundations, to philanthropists, and to business firms.

Thus colleges are news in a modern vein. Even a statement of tuition is presently more than staid information reserved for a college brochure — it rates newspaper and magazine space. Mail and telephone brings us information about financial programs designed to provide money for future college expenses. All together, these factors have raised interest in colleges and college entrance to all-time highs. And in the face of them all, quoting a speaker at a recent gathering of college admissions counselors, "The American parent has decided that his children will go on to advanced education."

High School Guidance

To keep a level and realistic composure in existing circumstances is the aim of the New England guidance counselors. Heading a staff of fifteen counselors at Newton's two high schools is Robert Mitchell, a lively veteran of 18 years in guidance work. In outlining his staff's mission, Mr. Mitchell points out, "We realize that the final responsibility for a pupil's getting into college belongs to him and to his parents. What we want to do is develop in each student a self identity — that is, an ability to evaluate himself and then make sound choices. As part of that process we help by providing information, many kinds of services, and answers to his questions."

College Counseling

Just when college first becomes a concern of pupils and parents differs from family to family. Suffice it to say that in some communities there are open expressions of interest by parents while their children are still in elementary grades. For example, it is not unusual to find elementary school P.T.A. meetings giving time to the topic.

Formal counseling procedures begin early in the second half of the student's junior year of high school. Then he and others who are college-bound come together and are given all the helpful knowledge which the guidance department can assemble for effective mass presentation. At the same time, he is advised to seek appointments with his guidance counselor. Now begins a series of individual conferences to discuss the student's college choices and his chances of admittance — based upon his cumulative record of school achievement and adjustment, and his estimates of himself.

The counselor strives to have the student assess his interests, strengths, and weaknesses, then narrow down his choices of colleges. He attempts to have him see the difference between realistic and unrealistic choices — but no student is told he cannot apply to a certain college.

Honest answers regarding his chances are given, nevertheless. A student is urged to apply to at least one college where his admission chances are particularly good. Thereupon, usually with help from the counselor, he chooses the senior year courses which will help achieve his admission goal. Meanwhile other services are provided the student. He examines college catalogues available in counselors' offices, house common rooms, and the school library. He studies a mimeographed bulletin entitled Information on College Applications — a copy goes to his parents, too. He learns of impending visits to his school on the part of college representatives and he meets with some of them. He is given the opportunity to take tests of the College Entrance Examination Board — both while a junior and later on as a senior. Personality inventories and teacher recommendations are added to the cumulative file.

Parents Participate

To insure that parents receive full information and have an opportunity to ask questions, evening meetings are arranged for them. Individual conferences between parents and counselors may follow student-counselor contacts. Visits to colleges during February, April, and summer vacations by parents and children are encouraged.

The Senior Year

The senior year is the time for intensive use of all that the student has learned about college previously. In September a senior assembly makes sure that all students know exactly how to proceed. Applications and accompanying transcripts are sent to colleges. The College Records Offices at the high schools process thousands of them annually. Individual counseling continues. The climax is the word of acceptance from the colleges.

Follow-up

By the close of school in June most students' plans for the ensuing fall are known to them and to their counselors. To complete counselors' knowledge of what the graduates are doing, a September follow-up by mail or telephone is made. On the basis of the experience of the past several years, it can be expected that overthree-fourth of the graduating class will have found placement in four year colleges, or vocational training schools.

Some Observations

Years of experience in college counseling have brought to Mr. Mitchell contacts with thousands of young people and their parents. One would expect that he would have some pertinent words to say to them about college.

"The majority of Newton students have a good chance for some college... Parents should not make college admission the crowning point in their own or their children's lives... We should do all we can to reduce the overemphasis on gaining admission to big name colleges... There are a great number of colleges that can provide fulfillment for anyone receptive to their offerings and willing to work... During the last five years I have seen an increase in the percentage of realistic choices."

"For some the junior college is the answer — there students may strengthen their record and transfer to four year colleges or take terminal programs... There are many excellent colleges west of the Hudson... Students need to reduce the time they spend worrying about college entrance and should 'take time out for greatness' — they should think about being of service and having satisfying life experiences."

Finally, on the basis of almost two decades of experience in Newton, Mr. Mitchell feels that the pride citizens feel about their schools is justified. "Naturally we are proud of the large numbers of Newton graduates who go on to further education. But what really makes our schools great is that at all levels we try to be sensitive to individuals. Newton's schools have translated this ideal to truth by providing top quality teachers and administrators and allowing them to operate in an organizational pattern designed to permit their giving concentrated attention to each student."

Newton South Teacher To Take Nigerian Post

Robert Franke, a teacher of mathematics at Newton South High School, looks forward with pleasure to a two-year African teaching assignment because, as he puts it, "professionally, it gives one an opportunity to start at the grass roots. After a certain amount of time, a teacher feels he has learned something from experience and welcome the opportunity to practice this in a new environment and situation."

His post will be in Africa's first comprehensive co-educational school. He will leave ahead of his family. Mrs. Franke and their two children will follow on March 8, and the youngsters, Suzanne, 9, and Donald, 6, will attend the Nigerian School.

The program, of which he will be a part, is sponsored by Harvard University, and provides that 15 Americans will teach for four years on the school, and train natives to replace them.

Lesson-Sermon On "Love" Will Be Sunday Theme

"Soul" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon this Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton.

Bible readings will include this passage from Psalms (42:11): "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God."

Other passages will emphasize the Christian Science teaching that man's real soul is not something in the material body, but the one infinite Soul, or God. Also included will be this sentence from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 60): "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul."

Bouchard Named
For Post In State DAV Dept.

John E. Bouchard, manufacturers agent with an office at Newton Corner, has been unanimously nominated for senior vice-commander of the Department of Massachusetts, Disabled American Veterans.

A volunteer worker at the Jamaica Plain Veterans Administration Hospital, Mr. Bouchard is a past commander of Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter 23, D.A.V., of Newton. The local chapter endorsed him because of his dedicated work.

The Newton chapter will hold its annual installation and dinner on Saturday, April 27, a month earlier than usual.

Commander Jack Opper has appointed Charles Pollock, P.C., as chairman for the event, and plans are now underway to make this a successful affair. Serving on the committee with Mr. Pollock are: J. Edward Theriault, Edward Edmunds, John E. Bouchard, Charles Atkinson, Edward DeCoste, Wilfred Doucette, Ralph Maddocks, Stan Acker, Dick Edman and Edmund Magrane.

It is possible that this will develop into a joint installation with the newly organized Auxiliary, Aux. Commander Margaret Nichols urges all eligible ladies to make application for membership so that they may be able to participate in this April DAV event.

Yale Premiere
Tomorrow For
Opus Of Kaplan

A new symphonic work by Elliot Kaplan, former Newtonite and a modern composer who has attained national prominence, will be given its premiere by the Yale Collegium Musicum tomorrow (Friday) at Yale's Sprague Hall.

Kaplan attended Newton High School, and conducted the class production of "The Mikado", in which his class mate Robert Morse starred in 1950. Morse's dramatic work is familiar to television viewers, and he is currently appearing in the Broadway hit "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying."

The work to be heard tomorrow is "Symphonic Episode," a one-movement piece subtitled "Vocas Clamantius." It was commissioned by the Friends of Music of Yale. The young composer was born in Boston, and studied under Paul Hinemith and Quincy Porter at Yale School of Music. Following his graduation he studied with Nadia Boulanger, and conducted at the Paris Conservatory under a Fulbright Scholarship. His "Concert Miniature VI" was well received by New York critics last year in the "Music in Our Times" series.

Record Budget
Decision Seen
Late In March

Checks and re-checks on the city's 1963 budget request for a record $25,000,000 have been virtually completed by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and his staff, and it was expected at City Hall that it would be ready for submission to the Board of Aldermen by today (Thursday) at the latest.

The board's finance committee will then undertake a study period of approximately six weeks. That means the matter should be ready for action of the full board at the end of March.

The over-all recommendation will exceed the 1962 figure by approximately $600,000. Last year the figure was $24,374,423. It was $23,533,000 in 1961.

Newton Savings
New Quarters
Are Now Open

Newton Savings Bank's Newton Corner office, which was at 286 Washington street for exactly 100 years, has been moved up the street to No. 289, its former site having been needed for the toll road's Weston-Boston extension.

In announcing the removal, President Frederick C. Ober pointed out that the new office, completely remodeled and staffed with the same friendly employees, is open for business with no interruption of service.

Mr. Ober commented that the new quarters are more spacious than the previous facilities and will enable the bank to give even better service. In addition, he noted, there is a free public parking area in the rear of the bank for the convenience of the many customers who drive.

Banking hours at the Newton Corner Office are as usual, from 8:30 to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. There are five other Newton Savings Bank offices, located in Newton Center, Newton Highlands, Needham Square, Wellesley Square and the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center.

The winning play, selected by a panel of judges comprised of Arthur Flemings of Brookline High School, James G. Holmes of Garland Jr. College, and Mrs. June Hamblin Mitchell of Emerson College, was "The Lute Song," which will represent Newton in the Massachusetts Preliminary Festival.

"MAN OF YEAR" FETED—Herbert N. McGill, center, was honored by Newton Rotary Club as Newton's "Man Of The Year" at a special $200 luncheon held last week at the YMCA. An executive chair and an engraved watch were given to Mr. McGill for his long service to Rotary and the Newton community.

Exhibit in the Bacon House Commons Room. In past years, paintings exhibited were done by students, NHS alumni, and teachers interested in art. This year, however, Bacon House has invited some of the adult members of the association to exhibit their work. Interestingly enough, some of these exhibitors are the parents of students presently attending Newton High: Mrs. Cossaboom, the mother of Judith Cossaboom, is exhibiting two oil painting, "The Potter" and "Golden Age"; Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, the parents of Eric Meyer have each contributed an oil painting also.

Barbara Witte, a former NHS student, is displaying a water-color entitled "Still Life," and Barbara Swan, the daughter of Newton High housemaster, Mr. Carl Swan, and a former student, is exhibiting a pastel portrait.

The French Club meeting of February 7 featured a talk on foreign language studies in elementary schools by Mrs. Levitine, a professor of French at Leslie College. The club is now planning its annual outing to a French restaurant for Friday evening, March 8.

The Newton High School Music Club presented a concert of original compositions tra, madrigals, vocal solo, by students of the music classes for symphony orchestra and jazz band, Tuesday, February 12, before an assembly of sophomores.

The NHS Latin Club's February meeting was devoted to the showing of slides by Miss Paula King, a senior at Jack-

FRANCIS W. PERRY

Francis Perry To Speak At Scout Dinner

The Recognition Night Dinner of Norumbega Council Boy Scouts of America, to be held at Valle's Steak House Monday evening, February 25, will have as the major speaker Francis W. Perry, crusader extraordinary, who during his service as a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives directed a great share of his energies to exposure of wrongdoing in public life.

Perry, whose public career began as a Duxbury selectman, is former chairman of the Republican Platform Committee. In 1958 he brought to light an attempt to move state agencies into a converted garage building, and gained passage of corrective legislation that blocked the deal. Later he exposed the so-called "Sweetheart Parking Deals," and it was his charges of scandal in the state public works department's division of waterways that led to indictment of the division's director Rodolphe G. Besette.

He resigned from the House in 1962 to campaign for Lieutenant Governor, but was defeated. Attorney General Edward F. Brooke has appointed him as a consultant on state problems, and he is a member of the executive board of Citizens for the Advancement of Public Service. In addition to his political activity he has devoted considerable time to a number of civic organizations.

The Recognition Dinner will honor those who have served Scouting throughout the past year, and it will be the occasion of various awards to Scouts. It closes out Boy Scout Month for Norumbega Council, which serves the Newtons, Weston and Wellesley, and has more than 2600 boys participating in Scout affairs.

President of the Council is Roger Bloomfield, and Doug Crighton is the Scout executive. Attendance is expected to number 300.

Lend A Hand To Heart Fund

The 1963 Heart Fund campaign opens in Newton today and will start rolling towards its climax on Heart Sunday, February 24th.

In Newton, and across the state, thousands of early-Bird 'Neighbors' will begin visiting in their home areas to collect money for this worthy cause. All funds realized help support life-saving programs of research, education and community service.

Heart Neighbors will cover their areas between now and nightfall on Sunday as a public service toward the conquest of cardiovascular disease, the nation's Number One killer.

Dedicated citizens in our midst will work in the four-day neighborhood canvass which culminates a month-long drive to fight heart disease.

A splendid research record has been made in Massachusetts by the help of our generous citizens who annually lend a hand at Heart Fund time. As pointed out by officials of the national and state heart associations, it is a research record made possible by the contributions, big and small, given to the campaign each year. It is a part of progress steadily made through the partnership of medical science and the public.

Our citizens are urged to welcome their Heart Neighbors as bearers of a golden opportunity, as well as representatives of a worthy cause, when they ring the doorbell this week-end. It is the golden opportunity to donate in the name of common sense, humanitarianism and enlightened self-interest.

From now through Heart Sunday, February 24, our neighbors will be visiting our homes to distribute educational literature and accept our donations. Let us, as people with a tremendous personal stake in the conquest of heart disease, give all possible support to the Heart Fund.

Political Highlights

Democratic legislators back gingerly away from the suggestion that dependency exemptions be slashed. That step would hit many persons in the lower income brackets who now pay no State income taxes but who would be tapped if their deductions were lessened.

Judging from the reaction of legislators, the least objectionable phase of Peabody's reported package proposal is a 1 per cent increase in the income tax rate.

However, there seems more than enough objection to that idea to kill it. Even if it were adopted, which is unlikely, it still would not produce anywhere near the amount of revenue Peabody seeks to raise to aid the local communities in meeting their rising school expenses.

It all adds up to the fact that the plan for overhauling and revamping the State's income tax law will not get off the legislative launching pad.

Opposition to suggestions for sharply increasing the State income tax levy is by no means confined to the Republican legislators. If it were, the proposal would be adopted since the Democrats control both branches of the State Legislature by big margins.

A majority of the Democrats also would line up against the measure even though many of them would come under strong pressure from officials in their own cities and towns to support it.

Peabody up to the time that this is written has not publicly stated that he favors increasing the State income tax levy as a means of obtaining the $70 to $100 million which he believes should be distributed to the cities and towns.

However, hints and statements by Peabody's lieutenants have made it clear that this is what the Governor is considering.

Whether Peabody will actually present such a proposition to the Legislature is still uncertain.

Peabody is unpredictable. He also has shown that he will not hesitate to involve himself in a fight even if the odds are heavily against him.

Some of the veteran legislative leaders are certain to counsel Peabody that he will not make any political hay by seeking an income tax hike he can't get. It remains to be seen whether Peabody will heed their advice.

A number of legislators have indicated that they would be willing to support a bill to increase the tax on coin-operated vending machines — if the revenue realized were used to grant moderate pay raises to State employees.

Former Governor Volpe pro-

mately $250 per year for the State workers.

Governor Peabody may be surprised to learn that his budget is likely to receive a moderate pruning by the Democratic Legislature before it is adopted.

Most Beacon Hill observers wondered if Peabody's budget was big enough to cover the State's needs when he sent it to the Legislature.

However, Representative John J. Toomey, economy-minded chairman of the House ways and means committee, left no doubt that he is going over Peabody's budget just as carefully as if it came from a Republican Governor.

This writer remarked to Toomey that Peabody's budget seemed so tight that there was no room for trimming it and that the House ways and means committee should have an easy time with it. "I've never seen a budget yet which couldn't be cut," was Toomey's laconic reply.

Brooke Must Rule On Conflicts of Interest

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke is the man who has the difficult task of deciding what is and what isn't conflict of interest under the law which becomes effective May 1. In some instances hairline decisions are involved.

Brooke's office must come up with the right answers because in some cases the rulings made by him or his assistants become issues in town election campaigns.

With elections about to be held in most towns, scores of officials standing for new terms in their communities are seeking opinions from Brooke's office on whether the things they are doing are in violation of the conflict-of-interest law. If they obtain rulings that what they are doing is not a violation of the new law, they immediately cite the opinions from Brooke's office in their campaigns, frequently touching off a public row with one or more of their opponents.

This has created an extremely sensitive situation for Brooke and his aides. The task of interpreting the conflict-of-interest law in itself is difficult. To do so against the background of hard-fought town election campaigns makes it even more touchy.

There are few secrets in the average town. Most persons know how part-time town officials round out their income and what they sell to the town itself or to the citizens of the town.

Those who don't know about such things are being told about them this year, with the new conflict-of-interest law an issue in most town election campaigns.

It is a situation in which Brooke's office can't afford to make a mistake.

Some town officials unquestionably will continue on blithely with their conflicts of interest after the new law goes into operation on May 1. And you may reasonably expect that some of them will be prosecuted in court for doing so.

That is why the situation is fraught with so much political dynamite.

Clem Riley Now Seen As Holdover Registrar

The status of Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Registrar Clement A. Riley has become the subject of increased discussion in political quarters.

Different interpretations are placed by newsmen on what Governor Peabody had to say about Riley.

Some reporters concluded that Peabody intends to reappoint Riley to a new term as Registrar.

Others attending the same press conference believe Peabody plans to retain Riley as Registrar in the role of holdover but has no immediate plan for formally reappointing him to a new term.

This observer now belongs to the second school of thought although we hasten to add that we might be adding up the wrong set of conclusions.

Peabody is engaging in some long-range highway safety planning with Riley. The Governor obviously would not be doing that if he did not expect Riley to continue as Registrar for a substantial period.

At the same time Peabody has pried questions about reappointing Riley and has given no indication that he intends to do so in the immediate future. Those are the reasons for our opinions on Riley's status.

cent televised showing of one of President Kennedy's press conferences was the extent to which Kennedy has aged during the little more than two years he has been in the White House.

This must have been brought home strikingly to anyone who recalls Kennedy's youthful appearance just 28 months ago when he was campaigning for the Presidency against Richard M. Nixon.

The punishing strain of a killing job, one which involves making critical decisions affecting the very safety and security of the American people, is taking a heavy toll on Kennedy.

President Kennedy, in answer to questions put to him at the press conference, indicated that he did not believe New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller would be his opponent in 1964.

Kennedy's opinion is not shared by most political experts. Rockefeller acts and talks like a man running for the Presidency. He appears to be far out in front among the prospective GOP Presidential hopefuls.

Tests of public sentiment indicate that if an election were held today, Kennedy would defeat Rockefeller or anyone else who stood against him.

Lad Finds Fossil Of Great Age

A rare archaeological find was made by a 10-year-old youngster exploring a pile of rocks where his dad was preparing a garden plot.

Joe Volpe of 229 Chapel street was told by his mother that it was a seed fern.

At the Museum of Science, where mother and son went for a consultation, it was said that the find was a Pecopteris Elgans from the Pennsylvanian age, and its age was somewhere around 300,000,000 years.

New York — An average U.S. home uses about 2,300 kilowatt hours of electricity a year.

Police Training

A compulsory course in all phases of police work, the fifth such school of in-service training, will be for all members of the Newton Police Department on Tuesday, Feb. 26, it was announced by Chief Phillip Purcell. Sessions will be held in the guard room at headquarters.

Bridge Project - he be open to a charge of conflict of interest.

In making his committee's report, Alderman Charles H. Morang, as acting chairman of the committee on Public Works, said that construction of the bridge under the proposed $15,000 saving would be a good investment for the city. But Alderman Harry L. Walen took the floor to express his disagreement.

Alderman Walen charges "horse trade."

It was Walen who applied the tag "horse trade" to the deal, saying that it was similar in character to the deal whereby the city had agreed to swap the site of an unused fire station in Newton Highlands for land at the intersection of Commonwealth Ave. and Washington St. most of which is occupied by a gasoline filling station. The latter tract will be the site of a combined fire station covering Auburndale, Waban and West Newton, and the former tract will be for the use of the gas station's owner.

The Ward 5 Alderman asserted that it would be better to pay the $40,000 cost of the Charles River Country Club land than to assume the responsibility for the footbridge. He pointed out that the span's construction cost would be increased because it would need ramps at each end instead of steps, explaining that these days golfers in great numbers prefer to push or haul their equipment by means of a two-wheeled golf cart rather than make use of a caddy. No golfer would want to indulge in exercise as strenuous as that which would be required in getting a golf cart up and down flights of steps.

Debate reached a point at which it was obvious no agreement could be reached, so it was moved and voted that the matter be tabled. However, it was later removed from the table and sent back into committee for further study.

In the matter of William A. Conte's petition to erect a cement block gasoline service station with tanks, signs, and the customary appurtenances at the Newton Highlands site that would replace his present site taken by the city for the combined fire station at Washington St. and Commonwealth Ave., there was no opposition. Lt. Joseph T. Fitzsimmons said the Fire Department had no objection to the move, but had suggested that three underground, instead of the four named in the petition, would suffice. The petitioner agreed to three, and also to the Aldermen's suggestion that his signs be no larger than those of other stations in the area.

Three petitions for removal of gravel and subsoil were heard together and approved by the board. One was by La-Sell Junior College, which proposes to erect an athletic plant where the material is to be removed. One was for gravel removal for construction of a playing field at what was formerly the Working Boys Home, but is now a Catholic novitiate. The third was a petition of Gail Realty Trust that was not printed in the docket.

The removal was said to be for the purpose of constructing homes on a subdivision. The Aldermen carefully restricted the times and routes by which the material could be removed so as not to cause inconvenience in the area. It was brought out that it was possible that some of the material would be used as fill for the toll road extension.

There was no opposition to a public works proposal for a common sewer to be laid from Alba road to 347 Waban Ave.

Residents of Langley Rd. did object to Henry F. Arnold's petition for a taxicab stand at 391 Langley Rd. He testified that he operates two cabs for his Shoppers Cab Service, Inc., and intends to

GEORGE E. RAWSON

Services For Rawson, Long A Legislator

Services for George E. Rawson, 76, of 22 Marlboro street, Newton, who represented this district in the State Legislature until his retirement last year, were held at Elliot Church, Monday, February 18.

Mr. Rawson, a native of Holbrook, died Sunday night at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Regarded as an authority on election laws, he was chairman of the House committee on election laws from 1945 to 1948, and chairman of the rules committee from 1936 to 1943. His political start was made on the Newton Board of Aldermen, on which he served for nine years.

In private life he was an insurance broker and senior agent for the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia.

He was life secretary of the Class of 1908, Amherst College, and a director of the Stone Institute of Newton, a home for elderly women.

He was a member of Phi

Beta Kappa, Middlesex and Massachusetts Club of New

add two more. The objectors maintained that the stand would further complicate traffic conditions on the streets, and that they would be prevented from parking their cars in front of their own homes. The petition was taken under advisement.

Approved were a number of requests by the director of public works that had been favored by the committees on Public Works and Finance. They included an appropriation of $19,000 for parking facilities extension to serve the new Star Market and parking of various stores on Walnut St., Newtonville, the money to be derived from parking meter receipts.

$27,000 PETITION FOR DRAINING LAND

Also included was a petition for $27,000 for draining land where Chestnut Hill Towers is proposed to be constructed. It was brought out that the residents of the area, who had opposed the petition, would benefit, and that before a shovelful of material for the project was turned, the developers would reimburse the city in full.

The Board approved Mayor Donald L. Gibb's request for an appropriation of $6500 for employment on a trial basis of an individual who would get what it paid for in the purchases of bulk material.

Also approved was $8000 for a traffic light at Cherry and Derby Sts., the scene of numerous accidents, and $700 for installation of a spot light for protection of the traffic officer assigned to Washington St. at the entrance of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital parking lot and entrance to the nurses' home.

Land taking for three water fluoridation stations was approved.

Final action of the evening was approval of the mayor's appointment of former Rep. Arthur G. Heaney to a four-year term as an election commissioner at a salary of $3000.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henry Nolan of 25 Vermont street, West Roxbury, and Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hanlon of Saugus are the couple's parents.

The Rt. Rev. Charles A. Donahue, pastor, celebrated the 10 o'clock Solemn High Nuptial Mass. The Rev. Paul Casey, cousin of the bride, was deacon, while the Rev. James Harrington was sub-deacon. Richard H. Nolan Jr., brother of the bride, was master of ceremonies. Stephen J. Malley and Peter G. Femino were acolytes while Leo Brehm was the Thurifer. Dr. Berj Zamkachian was the organist.

The Rt. Rev. John J. Twiss and the Rev. Felix J. Talbot, S.J., were seated within the sanctuary.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a sheath gown fashioned of white imported Japanese satin brocade. Precious lace edged her illusion mantilla. She was the 50th bride to carry a family heirloom prayer book and her flowers were stephanotis and lady slipper orchids.

Mrs. Edward F. Galvin of Medfield was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Patricia Leahy of Milton, cousin of the bride, and Miss Joan Hanlon of Saugus, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Another sister, Miss M. Teresa (Terry) Nolan of West Roxbury, was junior bridesmaid.

Peter Hanlon of Lafayette, Louisiana, served as best man for his brother. Robert A. Nolan of West Roxbury, brother of the bride, John Day of Marblehead, Charles Sweeney of Saugus, Kevin Hanlon, also of Saugus, cousin of the bridegroom, and Weston Jenks of Chestnut Hill were the ushers.

The Longwood Towers in Brookline was the setting for the reception. For her going-away costume the bride wore a smartly styled light blue woolen suit with brown accessories and a white corsage.

The couple left by plane for Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and then continued to Nassau. They will live in Melrose.

The bride was graduated from Newton College of the Sacred Heart. She is a past president of the Newton College Alumnae Association.

Mr. Hanlon, a graduate of Boston College, attended the Northeastern University Graduate School.

By DOT DUNN

Dear Dot,
I am two years younger than the other girls in my senior class in high school. I am smaller than average, and even though I am an all-A student as well as a fairly good all-round sport, I really suffer because I know that I lack the poise of the others. What can I do? N. P.

Dear N. P.,
Just relax. Your problems are about over. It won't be very long before you begin to realize that you have a real advantage. Try to imagine what fun it will be when you are the youngest in your college graduating class. The youngest doctor, nurse or whatever, will bring its rewards.

Dear Dot,
I am one of a threesome. Can you imagine we are in our junior year in high school, all 16, our group consists of two girls and one boy? It just boils down to this, my best girl friend and I go everywhere with the same boy. He often dates us separately. He even calls us each night. We both like him. What do you think? Are we wasting our time? S. L.

Dear S. L.,
Sounds as if you've been having a pretty good time. Why not ask another boy along once in a while? It's the best idea to date several boys. You'd never be asking the question if you weren't growing more mature. No, you have not been wasting your time.

Dear Dot,
This seems like a very real problem to me. I always have to double-date (my parents' wishes). It just seems that with the boys I sincerely want to make an impression. I lose my date to the other girl, even though I am the one to pick her. How about this? A. M.

Dear A. M.,
If you are fun to be with as well as interesting, this will hardly ever happen. Try to treat all the boys in the same manner. It would appear that when you are not trying so hard you keep your date. So just try being yourself. If a boy is interested in another girl, find another boy. It's best to get to know as many boys as possible. Will you ever be sure when Mr. Right comes along, if you settle for one too soon?

Dear Dot,
I am so small and petite. The only thing that fits me are my shoes. Should I wear stripes or plaids? Please give me a little help. W. D.

Dear W. D.,
I must say you are a lucky girl. Just think if your feet hurt you could never really look pretty. You are in luck with the clothes situation, too. Many designers are making "peti" or "petite" sizes today. Start hunting in your favorite shops. You'll be delighted with the attractive clothes for little people. Solid colors are your best bet. Plaids and stripes should be very subtle for you smaller girls. Try matching a one-piece dress with a short jacket. This is much better than the skirt, blouse and jacket outfit for smaller girls.

Outstanding Cars Now Ready At Local Dealers

1963 Seen Outstanding Year For Holmes Motors Mercury Line

Holmes Motors, celebrating its 10th year at 667 Washington street, Newtonville, is looking forward to meeting a host of old and new friends when the Mercury, Meteor, Comet and Continental open house for a view of the 1963 models expects its biggest crowd on Washington's Birthday.

Having seen the new cars himself, Ed Holmes, the organization's president and treasurer, is ready for the best year so far. He and his general manager, Bob Mabie, see an outstanding year for the industry, particularly so far as Mercury, Meteor, Comet and Continental are concerned.

During open house week, Holmes and Mabie, as well as Sales Manager Bud Miller and his force of Louis Minnazzio, Frank Oliver and Peter Wallace will be greeting visitors.

Dramatic new styling features plus increased power and performance highlight the changes for the 1963 Mercury Monterey.

The completely restyled Monterey, the big car entry in the Mercury line, includes a unique reverse-sloped rear window and roof line that sets the car apart from all other American cars.

The new rear window, which goes up and down, has important functional advantages as well as styling appeal. The window slants inward and virtually eliminates visibility problems caused by rain, snow, frost or ice. The window which is power operated, provides excellent ventilating when opened. The roof also allows more than half an inch of additional rear seat headroom.

The 200-Marauder V-8 now becomes the standard engine on the Monterey, replacing the 223 six-cylinder and 292 V-8 engines which are no longer available on Monterey. The standard 390 engine with two-barrel carburetor is rated at 250 horsepower and uses regular fuel. With four-barrel action, the engine is rated at 300 horsepower. Both 390-engines may be equipped with dual range Merc-O-Matic transmission, the fully synchronized 4-speed floor mounted manual transmission. A newly designed fully synchronized three-speed manual transmission is available on the standard 390-engine.

The 1963 Monterey also incorporates many engineering advances to reduce the cost of car maintenance. In addition to the many service-saving features which have been introduced on the Monterey in the past two years, such as 6,000 mile oil change and minor lubrication, 30,000 mile major lubrication, 30,000 mile fuel filter and two-year or 36,000 mile radiator coolant, the 1963 Monterey will offer:

—Elimination of the 1,000 mile inspection.

—Extension of the major chassis lubrication interval from 30,000 miles to 36,000 miles.

—Longer-life battery.

United Fund Grants Seen Not Adequate for Agencies Need

Announcement by Dr. Donald E. Bowen, president of Newton Community Chest, Inc., that Red Feather grants of the Greater Boston United Fund to 10 Newton agencies for 1963 totalled $203,000, brought an expression of concern from George M. Shannon, chairman of the Chest Budget Committee, who stated that the amount was inadequate to take care of the needs of the services here.

His committee, he said, had determined that the community responsibility to maintain—not expand—presently available services would require $245,686 for 1963, and Mr. Shannon said that Newton's situation stems from the same basic problem of the entire United Fund effort to meet the needs in all its forty-nine Greater Boston communities.

The actual requirements of these agencies, Mr. Shannon continued, are even greater than the $245,686 requested. He explained that most of the agencies will be conducting supplemental fund raising activities such as rummage and candy sales as well as sustaining membership campaigns (which will have Chest approval). The fact that agencies are getting approximately $40,000 less than the amount considered essential puts even more emphasis on the independent fund raising activities of agencies which in the long run must be detrimental to the United Fund effort, he stated.

The dilemma was further emphasized when he stated that more disturbing than the increased need for supplementary fund appeals by each agency, is the fact that even with these additional funds, our agencies' needs are not now being fully met to keep pace with the increased population and growing needs for more services.

This has necessitated some actual curtailment of services, delays in hiring replacement personnel to save on salary payments, more competition between agencies for available supplemental sources and the need to use capital funds and emergency reserve funds to finance the on-going operations of some agencies.

Also noted in the report of the Budget Committee is that two former agencies, the Family Service Bureau of Newton, and the Newton Girl Scout Council have both joined large regional agencies this past month and will, therefore, receive operating funds directly from United Community Services.

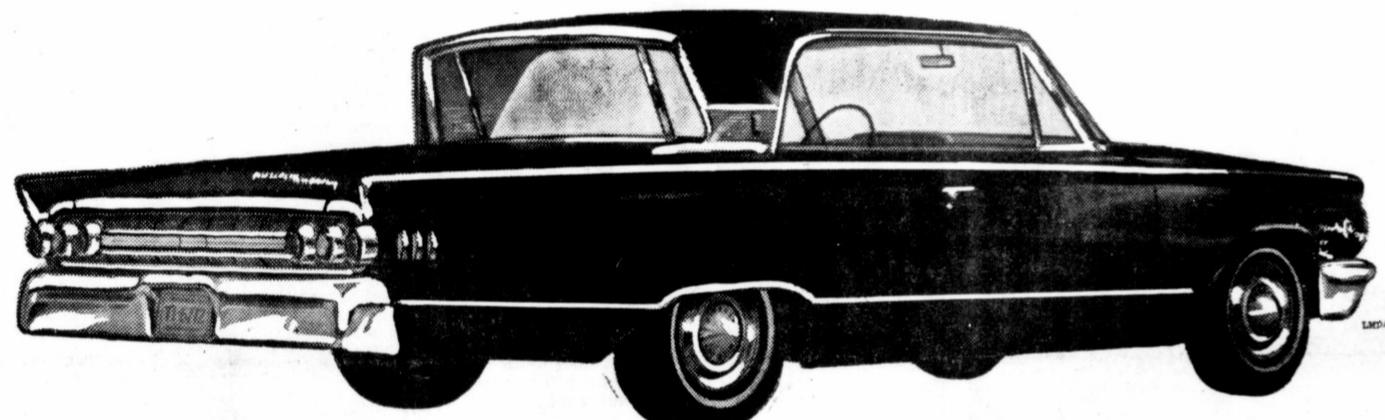

Grant for the 10 member agencies of the Newton Chest for 1963 are as follows:

All Newton Music School, $2,000; Newton Boys' Club, $1,200; Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts $23,750; Newton Community Center, $19,500; Newton Wellesley Hospital, $36,500; Rebecca Pomroy House, $10,600; St. Vincent de Paul Society, $10,250; Newton Sidney Hill Country Club.

Lasell Chapel Service

Speaker at the chapel service at Lasell Junior College Monday morning, February 25, at 11:30, will be the Rev. Sidney G. Menk of the Church of the Covent, Boston. His subject: "Counsels for the Living in a Crisis."

In describing Oldsmobile's full-size cars, Wolfram said that they are styled with long, sleek lines, incorporating special characteristics for each series.

"In addition to the totally new and appealing exterior styling of the Dynamic 88," he added, "interiors are richer and more tastefully appointed."

"The Super 88," he said, "is more glamorous than ever with new luxury trim and fabrics inside and distinctive accent moldings outside. As an example, the edges of wheel openings and rocker panel in the 1963 Super 88 are outlined in stainless steel."

"Oldsmobile's Starfire, for 1963," Wolfram said, "is a full-size sports car with its own Starfire engine, Hydra-Matic power brakes, power steering, bucket seats, power console and tachometer as standard

Oldsmobile's 26 Models Have Engineering Advances

Designers of the 1963 Oldsmobile aimed at broader appeal through fresh, youthful styling, stronger model identification, many improvements for customer comfort and important engineering advances.

Among the latter are a new adjustable tilt-type steering wheel and — another Olds first — an exclusive positive crankcase ventilation system.

Jack F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile's general manager and a General Motors vice-president, announced that the 1963 cars will be displayed at dealers' showrooms Washington's Birthday. In Newton, the Oldsmobile dealers are Frost Motors at 399 Washington St., Newton, and Newton Centre Garage at 792 Beacon St.

"To meet the varied wants and needs of today's individual buyers," Wolfram said, "Oldsmobile is offering 26 highly distinctive models for 1963, ranging from the crisply designed, longer looking F-85 to the most elegant 98's we've ever built."

"Styling distinctiveness impressively apparent in each 1963 Oldsmobile series," Wolfram continued, "has been gained through sweeping changes in body and sheet metal, individualized grilles, rear quarter surfaces and tail lamps, bright metal accent trim and contemporary roof and upper structure design. New rooflines have been designed for the Dynamic and Super 88 Holiday Sedans and for the Starfire. Two new 98 models have been added."

In describing Oldsmobile's full-size cars, Wolfram said that they are styled with long, sleek lines, incorporating special characteristics for each series.

According to Mr. White, several pressing needs confront the hospital's Board of Governors. The specific application of Year-End funds, however, will hinge on final results of the Appeal, he noted.

Gifts from the 1961 Appeal helped purchase X-ray equipment valued at more than $50,000, he indicated. Presently, the hospital is installing a diagnostic machine and intensification system that brightens X-ray images 3,000 times. The unit also features a television camera and monitor, and a motion picture attachment. The equipment permits surer and safer X-rays in less time, and is the latest of its kind in the Boston area.

THE DEPENDABLES BUILT BY DODGE!

Most people think of Dodge as a medium-price car. Because it has been for many years. Because it's big. Almost 18 ft. long.

But in spite of its bigness and tradition, the 1963 Dodge is a low-price automobile.

This year, for instance, if you can afford a Chevy, you can afford a Dodge.

Understand, we are not talking about a special model. There are 24 models, in

Gene Brown Motors Displays Rambler And Volvo 1963 Models

Prospective car owners have worn a path to the doors of Gene Brown Motors, Inc., 714 Beacon street, Newton Centre, to inspect the Ramblers and Volvos, but a marked increase in their number is expected for Washington's Birthday open house, when the 1963 models will be displayed in all their splendor.

All the new Ramblers re-emphasize the size and balance concept that has won leadership in the compact car field, according to Thomas A. Coupe, American Motors vice-president in charge of automotive sales.

The dramatically re-styled Classic Six and Ambassador V-8 models are lower and look much longer, but are actually more than an inch shorter in overall length than previous models, Coupe said.

Washington's Birthday visitors are particularly invited to examine the advanced unit construction which is the basis for Rambler's first major appearance change in many years," Coupe said. "This method of building cars results in a stronger, safer body and superior precision and quality in manufacturing."

Other '63 Rambler highlights include a seven-fold increase in use of galvanized steel for greater rust-resistance, curved side glass, new grille design, Twinstick floor shift transmission with overdrive, permanently lubricated transmissions and rear axles, alternators, and many improvements to further reduce maintenance costs and service requirements.

In addition, the new Ramblers offer as standard equipment such extra-value features as an improved Double-Safety brake system, self-adjusting brakes, exclusive lifetime guaranteed ceramic-coated muffler and tailpipe, oil filter, chrome travel rack on most station wagons, and Power-Guard "24" battery," Coupe said.

Other features contributing to reduced maintenance costs include 33,000-mile or three-year chassis lubrication intervals for Classic and Ambassador models, and recommended engine oil change at 4,000 miles for all models. Front wheel bearing repack interval has been increased to 25,000 miles.

A unique three-point safety belt will be included as standard equipment in the 1963 line of Swedish-made Volvo automobiles sold in the U.S., it was announced here today by Hans Larsson, president of Volvo Import, Inc.

The announcement, effective immediately, marks the first time that any automobile manufacturer, foreign or domestic, has offered safety belts as standard equipment in all models of its line.

Volvo cars available in the U.S. include the P1800, a sports styled car of the Grand Turismo type; the 544, Volvo's all-time best seller; and a new 122S series consisting of a two-door sedan, a four-door sedan, and a four-door station wagon.

Bigger, Better Cadillac Is Great Beauty

The 1963 Cadillac, car of distinction with its increased size and significant engineering accomplishments, will be shown tomorrow (Washington's Birthday) at two Newton showrooms. Frost Motors, 399 Washington street, Newton, and Newton Centre Garage, 792 Beacon street.

All 12 models have clean, unbroken side metal with bold and individual components such as hood, front fenders, grille head lamps and roofs.

Eleven are an inch longer, with nine of them 22 inches in overall length. One, the single short deck sedan remaining in the line, is 215 inches, and the two Series 75 models are 243.3 inches. Wheel base is unchanged in all models.

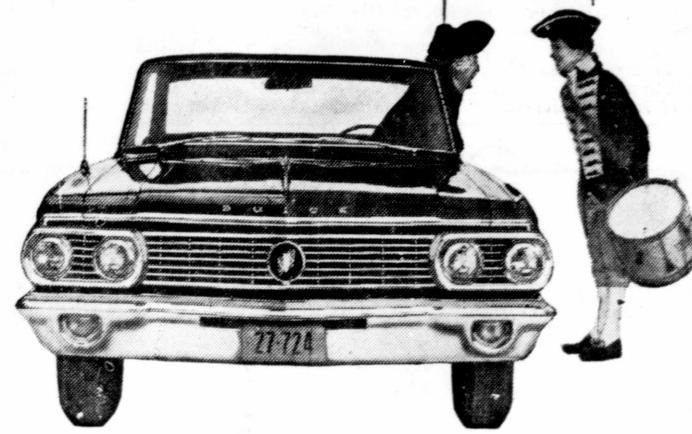

Fleetwood Sixty Special sedan remains the top Cadillac line, with stately roof, stainless rocker moldings along the body's lower edge, grille treatment and specially styled interior.

Cadillac's outstanding engineering accomplishments include a new engine more durable and efficient, while giving a substantial weight reduction and the smoothest, most rugged, drive line yet known to the industry. It has durability twice that of any operating design.

Spread the word! There's an extra day to storm the LeSabre Value Carnival and capture the prize car—the full-size, quality-built, long-life LeSabre by Buick for just about what you'd pay for one of the "low-price names."

Horace Mann School Pupils Honor Memory Of Argentine Educator

Pupils and members of the Horace Mann School faculty were joined by guests representing Peru, Argentina and the Pan American Society, in a program at the West Newton school last week honoring the memory of Domingo Sarmiento, Argentina's first minister to the United States and his country's second president.

Born to a poverty-stricken family in the Andes in 1811, Domingo Sarmiento became a famous educator and statesman. In the course of his travels, he made the acquaintance of Horace Mann when that great educator was a West Newton resident, and inspiration from that friendship led the South American later to develop the first nationwide system of public education that Argentina had ever known.

In the course of last week's program, the Horace Mann children, under the direction of Kenneth LaFlamme, principal, and Miss Florence Hickel, head teacher, presented a program developed through their studies of South America.

Mrs. Rafael Camerini of Wellesley, a former teacher in Argentina, presented the school with a bust of Sarmiento that had been commissioned in 1961 by the Sarmiento Institute of Argentina. As a representative of the institute, Mrs. Camerini described the great impact that was made on the man being honored by Horace Mann, who was then serving as the first secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education. She and her husband, Dr. Rafael Camerini, a medical research scientist, expressed the hope that the program would mark the beginning of closer ties between educators here and in South America.

Dr. Charles E. Brown, Newton schools superintendent, echoed those sentiments in accepting the bust.

Silver Lake Motors Takes Pride In 1963 Dodge Line

Host Herbert A. Abramson, president of Silver Lake Motors, 444 Watertown St., Newton, will have the complete line of 5-year 50,000-mile warranted new Dodge cars and trucks on display tomorrow (Friday) and Washington's Birthday.

The many visitors who register for a door prize will be pleasantly surprised, he believes, at the low cost of moving up into a 1963 compact Dart, medium size Dodge or the full-size Custom 880.

He realizes that his success is due to his fair policy methods, down to earth pricing, and the best service in New England. His used cars are the cleanest, best reconditioned, and lowest priced anywhere. His Body and Paint Shop Manager, Joe Freitas, is recognized as one of New England's finest and he has a most competent crew to make your car look like new once more.

Dodge offers buyers a choice of 42 models ranging from low-priced compacts to medium-price luxury cars.

"Our 1963 line-up gives the American motorist the widest selection of Dodge cars in our company's 49-year history," Dodge General Manager Byron J. Nichols said.

The new Dart is built on a 111-inch wheelbase and is seven inches longer than the 1962 Dodge compact. It's offered in nine attractive models, including two convertibles.

The newly styled Dodge, which has a wheelbase of 119 inches, is six inches longer than last year's standard-size models. The Dodge line has 24 models, including two special high-performance Polara 500 sports models with bucket seats.

The Dodge line-up also includes nine medium-price 880 and Custom models. These big, new cars have a 122-inch wheelbase and an overall length of 17 feet, 9 inches.

The nine Dart models are in three series: 170, 270 and GT. The Dodge also has three series: 330, 440 and Polara. The medium-price Dodge is offered in two series: the deluxe Custom 880 and the lower-priced 880 series.

Dart buyers have a choice of two six-cylinder engines, one with a 170-cubic-inch dis-

Reading Clinic

Three Greater Boston educators will conduct a special developmental reading program at Sidney Hill Country Club next summer beginning July 1. The well known, luxurious club thus will become the first Country Club in the area to offer an educational program in addition to its fine recreational programs for young people.

John J. Brennan, Jr., 70 Dwinell street, West Roxbury; Daniel E. Kearns, 49 Alicia road, Dorchester; and Philip Matthews, 23 Channing street, Wollaston, directors of Rogers Academy and teachers with an aggregate total of thirty-six years experience, have prepared an attractive program for those wishing to improve their reading ability and allied language skills.

The program is designed not only for those having difficulty with reading but also for those who, perhaps, are reading at or above the average for their age and grade. Research has shown it is the good reader who profits most from training in speed and comprehension.

A thoroughly tested and approved method of developing both reading speed and comprehension will be used. Classes will combine scientific approaches to reading along with the personal attention so often lacking in mere programmed learning. The directors are certain that any accepted student will finish the course reading at a higher level of understanding and speed than when he started.

Children of non-Sidney Hill members will be admitted to classes by special permission.

Emerson Advisers

Robert Sage of Newton and Nathaniel Rosenberg of Newton Centre have been named to the Emerson College Business Advisory Council. Comprising leaders in the Greater Boston business community, the Council will meet periodically to find ways and means of solving the problems of growth and expansion of the college.

To Be Offered At Sidney Hill

of the Club although enrollment in the courses will be limited. The convenient location of Sidney Hill Country Club will spare students the hot, "dressed-up," journey to Boston to study. Sessions at Rogers Academy will last one hour a morning over a six week period. Dress for students will be informal and it will be possible for a boy or girl to leave the air-conditioned classrooms and go directly to the tennis courts or one of Sidney Hill's swimming pools.

Many fathers and mothers realize summertime education would be of benefit to their children but, at the same time, they are reluctant to deprive their son or daughter of the healthy recreation of the vacation period. The student at Rogers Academy at Sidney Hill will spend a profitable hour in a comfortable modern classroom and then will be free, if he wishes, to enjoy the many facilities of the Club."

B. U. Men Go To Argentina And N. York

Two members of the staff at B.U. and a professor of romance languages are scheduled to take part in activities this month away from the university.

Both West Newton residents, they are Dr. Solomon Lipp of 58 Myrtle street, Kurt M. Hertzfeld of 39 Sewall street, and George Kiebala Jr., of 289 Highland avenue.

Dr. Lipp leaves this month for Argentina, where he will conduct research and lecture in philosophy at the University of Cordoba under a Fulbright grant.

Hertzfeld, vice-president for administrative affairs, and Kiebala, the university's comptroller, will take part in the seventh annual workshop clinic of the Eastern Association of College and University Business Officers in New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel February 24-26.

The former is serving as secretary-treasurer of the association's executive committee. The latter will moderate two discussions on "Effective Purchasing" and "Evaluating and Managing College Food Services."

Hard Going Seen For Relocation Aid Measures

At least one of the 22 bills in the Legislature dealing with eminent domain seizures deserves to go through, former Rep. Irene K. Thresher told a group of social service executives last week, but she was warned that there would be vigorous opposition from the Turnpike Authority Chairman William F. Callahan because of the expense involved.

"Don't forget," she said, "they are not in the turnpike's interest. People must rise up and support them."

The bills, given a public hearing last month by the joint legislative committee on the Judiciary, call for financial assistance for families forced to give up their homes to make way for highway construction.

Of the 22, three were filed by Newton's Sen. Michael J. Galvin and Reps. Joseph G. Bradkey and Irving Fishman.

Speaking at the same meeting, Richard M. Doherty, assistant director of the Boston College Bureau of Public Affairs, predicted that by 1973, 50,000 Massachusetts families will face relocation because of highway or urban renewal programs. Unless laws are passed to provide money and advice in finding new homes, the hardships of these families will be multiplied, he warned.

Temple Emanuel In Music Observance

Temple Emanuel, 385 Ward street, Newton, observed Jewish Music Month last Sunday, February 10, with a festival conducted by students of the Beth classes, with each class presenting one or two selections of liturgical or Israeli songs reflecting the musical tradition of the people.

The two classes with the best presentations were honored with the Temple Emanuel music banners Aleph and Beth. The teachers of the Beth classes are: Miss Judith Armet, Mrs. Marilyn BenTov, Miss Eleanor Cohen, Miss Tamar Katz, Mrs. Joel Rubenstein, and Mrs. Leonard Safon. The program was under the direction of Dr. Martin Goldstein.

Following the program refreshments were served by a committee of the P.T.A.

NHS Must Win Saturday For Tourney Okay

The Newton High School hockey team continued winning most games and remained in contention for both the GBI title and the State Hockey Tournament.

With one week remaining, the club is tied with Arlington for second place, two points behind league-leading Brookline, with an 11-3 mark.

Only overconfidence will keep Newton from qualifying for the tourney. The local sextet closes out the regular season against weak Somerville Saturday, a club with only one win in 13 games. A win or tie for Newton will put the club in the state affair.

Arlington, meanwhile, will take on Brookline. A win for Arlington coupled with a Newton victory will create a three-way tie for the league title.

Newton scored a big win Saturday, topping Medford, 4-3, in an exciting contest.

After Medford went ahead, Terry MacLaughlin tied it at 4-4 of the opening session. MacLaughlin again tied it at 2-2 in the middle stanza, scoring at 5:40.

The locals took a two-goal lead in the final period on goals by Jeff MacLaughlin and Dick Toomey. Newton held Medford to only one goal in the period to pick up the big win. The loss dropped Medford from title contention. However, they have qualified for the tourney.

Offer Vacation Week Programs

Newton's Community Center offers a wide choice of school vacation week activities, including a number of dance contests for teenagers Saturday evening at 7:30.

Tonight (Thursday) at 8, Mrs. Chloes Pearson of the Middlesex County Extension Service will advise homemakers on meats and the preparation of low-cost cuts.

Two new activities for adult women will soon be underway, cake decoration under the direction of Mrs. Lucas and sewing under the direction of Mrs. Riccio. The sewing is a morning course, while the cake decorating is in the evening. Golf instruction under the tutelage of Dan Meany will be offering new class times in the near future.

Senior citizens are in for a real treat as they celebrate the 25th with a gala movie party. The affair in addition to serving refreshments will include a humorous film "The Golden Age of Comedy." Seniors have invited many guests to this affair. The Women's Group, meeting Monday evening, will also be treated to this affair.

For any information concerning the Center or its programs, visit 429 Cherry street, or phone 244-2260.

On Presidential Tour Of African Nations

When U.S.S. Spiegel Grove, LSD-32, sets out on a three-months Presidential Good Will Tour to Africa this month, Seaman C/C David M. Seder of 19 Irvington street, Waban, will be aboard.

The crew members, as American ambassadors of good will, will demonstrate what Americans are really like to many of the emerging African nations.

Accountants Bill

Norman H. S. Vincent of 489 Walnut street, Newtonville, a member of the legislative committee of the Massachusetts Society of Public Accountants, calls attention to a bill filed in the legislature by the Society that calls for regulating the practice of public accountancy not only by CPAs but by those not certified. The bill is maintained to be in the public interest because it makes all accountants amenable to the same high ethical standards.

Aladdin March Offering

Dorm Request Denied

The Zoning Board of Appeals has denied a petition of Mrs. Barbara Riley of 91 Parker St., Newton Centre, for permission to use her home as a dormitory for eight college girls. It was ruled that she could not make the request as she did not have legal title to the dwelling.

Second Ouster Try On Toll Road Holdouts

The Massachusetts Turnpike Authority to date has refused to up the offer for the three West Newton families whose homes are needed for the turnpike extension and, as the payment proposed does not cover the cost of relocation, in their opinion, the householders are standing pat. The sheriff will make a second try at ousting them Saturday.

The holdouts are Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Blackler, 241 Austin St., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hathaway, No. 299, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kerr, of 303.

homemaking schools, day care centers, and programs for responsible citizenship. It will also help in the work with Indian Americans moving into industrial areas.

On March 1 the United States will be one of 150 areas in six continents in the world where some group will be gathering at some time during the entire 24 hours, to girdle the world with prayers.

Mrs. Charles L. Renker, chairman and Mrs. Holdridge, co-chairman, have announced that at the afternoon service the speaker will be the Rev. Walter Muelder, Dean and Professor of Social Ethics, Boston University School of Theology. Assisting in the service will be Mrs. Elmo S. Young, Mrs. Eugene W. Myer, Mrs. Clarendon L. Southmayd and Miss Dai Sil Kim, a graduate of Ewha University, Seoul, Korea, and now attending Boston University.

The organist will be Miss Marion Childs Greene and Miss Marjorie Dow will be the soloist. Ushers will be Mrs. Robert Pope, Mrs. Robert Fraser, Mrs. Alan Scheck, Mrs. Gordon Rowe, and Mrs. Walter Muelder.

There will be baby sitting during the afternoon service in the downstairs church parlor beginning at 1:45 p.m.

Chairman of the evening service is Mrs. Philip Baird. Mrs. Walter Hill, Mrs. John Balcolm, Mrs. Anthony Chikowski, Mrs. Stewart W. Holmes, and Miss Nala Yimi Amarasingham of Ceylon an AFS student living with Mr. and Mrs. William Ripley in Newton Centre.

The organist will be Frank Pickett with Mrs. Frank Pickett as soloist. The ushers will be Mrs. Robert Snow and Mrs. Edward Lesbirel.

The speaker for the evening's service will be Mrs. Nels Ferre of Newton Centre. Last year when the Rev. and Mrs. Nels Ferre were on sabbatical leave on a round-the-world trip they visited some of the institutions that receive the World Day of Prayer offering.

New Polish For Silver Halts Tarnish March

Gals, they tell us the silver tarnish war is finally really won. No longer, we're told, must we bag it, sack it, rub it, scrub it, hide it to be able to use our silver every day without fear of the inexorable march of tarnish formation and the inevitable fortnightly chore of polishing.

All of this good news comes in Beirut in which prayers were offered in four languages: English, Arabic, Armenian and German.

from the form of a new silver polish, Hagerty Tarnish Preventive, just reaching the market which claims to prevent tarnish from forming for periods ranging from six months up to as long as a year, depending upon your silver's environment in your home. This is accomplished, according to a report, without the use of artificial spray coatings, with no harmful effects upon your prized silver or silverplate or on the food you might serve with it, and — from the worksaving standpoint — it happens when you clean your silver. No special operation is needed.

Hagerty Tarnish Preventive is now available at Peterson's Jewelers and Silversmiths, 1233 Centre St., Newton Centre.

In These Days of Inflation

The week, March 1st through 7th, has been designated as National Weights and Measures Week in Newton in commemoration of enactment of the first national weights and measures law on March 2nd, 1799.

The public, in these days of inflation, is more than ever quantity conscious. The current high cost of living, and the difficulty of making income and expenses balance, the need to stretch the dollar, has caused most consumers today to select purchases with the thought of getting the most for that dollar. High prices are a most convincing argument that pints, quarts, and even inches are dollars and cents.

Newton Sealer J. Ellis Bowen states that it is important that how much you get is equal to how much you pay. To receive short weight is the equivalent of receiving counterfeit money in change. To give short weight or measure is a two pronged evil, for it not only cheats the purchaser, but provides a means of unfair competition by offering a means of underselling an honest competitor.

The American system, under the stimulus of our profit system, provides the world's highest standard of living. This high level of economic activity in turn depends upon small unit profits of mass productivity and distribution. With these unit profits being small, it is vital that a merchant not give long weight or measure for to do so is to give away his profit, his means of livelihood, and over a period of time to invite bankruptcy. Nationwide, neither short nor long weight or measure can be tolerated.

Weights and measures officials are to be saluted for their activities in assuring the "equity prevails in commercial transactions relative to quantity determinations."

Political Highlights

In 1958 Peabody lost to Edward J. McCormack, Jr., in a struggle for the endorsement for Attorney General at the Democratic State Convention but battled McCormack for the nomination in the open primary.

Now Peabody declares: "To go through the expense of campaigning six months for a convention and then allowing anyone to run in the primary is wasteful."

What that statement proves is that a convention looks altogether different when you're in than it does when you're out.

There is little doubt, incidentally, that Peabody would have run in last September's primary if he had been nosed out for the endorsement at the Springfield convention in June. His election as Governor, however, has changed his attitude toward conventions.

Peabody is now supporting a plan under which a candidate who failed to poll less than 20 per cent of the votes cast at a State Convention would be required to obtain the signatures of 15,000 registered voters in order to have his name placed on the September primary ballot.

The argument undoubtedly will be advanced that any office-seeker who is unable to win that backing of one-fifth of the delegates to a State Convention isn't likely to get far in a primary.

There is some validity to that claim. Nevertheless, the bill, which Peabody has endorsed, would cut into the right of the people to nominate the candidates they wish for high public offices.

Whether the bill Peabody favors will be enacted by the Legislature is uncertain. It may get through the House of Representatives, but it is likely to encounter vigorous opposition in the State Senate.

Peabody would be on more solid ground and would be in a more consistent position if he advocated that State Conventions be abolished rather than strengthened and that the nomination of candidates be left entirely to the voters.

To be sure, there is little likelihood that Peabody could revise the law to wipe out the pre-primary conclaves, but on other matters he has not hesitated to voice his convictions even though there was scant chance of achieving his objectives.

What the change in the law which Peabody now favors would do is to require every candidate for statewide office to fight it out at a State Convention or to be prepared to obtain 15,000 signatures. There are not more than a handful of political figures in Massachusetts who have organizations big enough to obtain that number of valid signatures.

Silly Bills Delay
Legislative Session

When editorial writers run dry of ideas, they invariably sit down and chastise members of the Legislature for remaining in session so long.

The law-makers repeatedly are being told that if they want to serve the public more efficiently, they should clean up their business more quickly

12-Week Life Saving Course At Newton 'Y'

The Y. M. C. A. of Newton will offer a course in life saving and water safety beginning March 6. The course will run for twelve weeks and include training in the latest and most efficient methods of rescue and resuscitation.

For all who register, a general swimming skill test will be given at the first meeting. Completion of the course hours plus satisfactory achievement on the final exam will result in certification. Those under fifteen are eligible for the rank of Junior Life Saver. Older participants may qualify for a senior rating.

and not dilly-dally on Beacon Hill.

What often is overlooked is that we enjoy the so-called right of free petition here in Massachusetts, that any citizen may have any measure he desires filed and that members of the Legislature must act upon all bills before they propose for the year.

One question which has puzzled this writer is how it happens that year after year the Legislature is confronted with more than 3000 bills.

The answer may be traced at least partly to the ingenuity of some people in thinking up silly and absurd bills.

For example, one bill, on which the legislative committee on legal affairs recently held a public hearing as is required by law on every measure, would repeal the existing statute which prescribes a penalty for anyone who allows a ram or he-goat to run at large during specified hours.

A second measure which came up at the same hearing sought to wipe out an exemption now allowed for debtors whose property is seized. The exemption, which means the property a debtor can legally keep, consists under the law of six sheep, one cow, one pig and two tons of hay.

This provision in the law, presumably dating back to the early days of the nation, apparently is troubling some legal scholar.

Another measure before the same 15-member committee on the same day, which also intrigues us, would authorize husbands and wives to make contracts with each other.

A painstaking survey of the bills still awaiting consideration undoubtedly would reveal some sillier and more absurd than the three cited. These, however, offer a fairly good example of how the right of free petition, important as it may be, can also result in a waste of time and money for the taxpayers.

Peabody Disenchanted With MTA's McLernon

Governor Peabody apparently is just as disenchanted with MTA General Manager Thomas J. McLernon as was former Governor Volpe before him.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins and Senate President John E. Powers, who a couple of years ago were urging that McLernon be given a fair chance to show what he could do, also have cooled off in their attitude toward the sharp-tongued MTA boss.

Peabody has emphasized at just about every opportunity that he believes the MTA should be giving the public more service instead of less.

The Governor's point is well taken, especially since the State itself is in the midst of a costly and extensive program to encourage commuters to use mass transportation facilities instead of driving their own automobiles.

McLernon usually has shrugged off complaints about cuts in service although he has backed tracked when Mayor Collins blasted him for false economies which inconvenienced the public without saving any substantial amount of money.

But the MTA boss is likely to find Peabody a tougher customer to deal with than was Volpe. One thing about Peabody is that he can be just as stubborn as McLernon.

A second is that Peabody shortly will have the appointment of a member of the MTA Board of Trustees who pre-

Plan School's 10th Anniversary

Plans are taking shape for the Tenth Anniversary Observance of the Countryside Elementary School in Newton, according to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Alpert, general chairmen. The event will be held on March 18 at the school.

Invitations have been extended to Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, Dr. Charles Brown, superintendent of schools; Haskell Freedman, chairman of the school committee, and Robert Ward, PTA Council president.

In addition to the banquet and other events, a special program is being planned for the parents of children at the school, including those whose children attended at the opening.

sumably will be designated as chairman of the board.

You may be sure that Peabody will select a trustee, whose ideas about MTA service coincide with his own rather than McLernon's.

Daniel Tyler, Jr., of Brookline, present chairman of the MTA board, is not numbered among McLernon's admirers or supporters. So it will not be surprising if McLernon's wings are clipped in the fairly near future.

Volpe Political Plans
May Hinge on Dinner

Persons close to ex-Governor Volpe declare that his decision on whether to undertake a political comeback in 1964 may depend on the success of a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner now being planned for him.

If the banquet draws an enthusiastic response and is a big political and financial success, it presumably will encourage Volpe to run again for the Governorship next year.

Should the affair prove a flop, Volpe might decide to forget about politics and concentrate on running his own contracting business.

A factor which may detract from the Volpe dinner is that George C. Lodge is holding a similar dinner the middle of March to raise the money to pay off his campaign debts and has scheduled Pennsylvania's Governor Scranton as the principal speaker.

Many Republicans may find two $100-a-plate dinners within a few weeks something of a drain. And Lodge got a big jump on Volpe.

Holding dinners to pay off campaign debts is becoming quite a custom.

A sucessful birthday banquet was staged for Governor Peabody, with the money realized being used to pay his campaign bills as well as those of Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti. The funds left over were given to the Democratic State Committee to finance its operations.

As a former Governor and a potential candidate next year, Volpe should be able to manage a successful dinner. But he is apt to find that some persons who would have snapped up a table when he was head of the State government now aren't interested in buying a ticket. That's politics.

Don't think that cold cream is a modern beauty aid; it was known to the early Romans.

Cleaning creams are those used to remove makeup and have a high mineral oil base. Vanishing creams use less grease and thus tend to melt much faster. Cold creams being much heavier must be massaged in.

Creans with a lanolin base are a good bet as this additive is much like the oils in the skin and has qualities of absorption.

A good bet—in fact, your best bet—for most any beauty attention is CONTINENTAL COIFFEURS. Hair styling, in particular, is a specialty. MAYOR PROCLAIMS "ORT DAY" HERE — Mayor Donald L. Gibbs signs proclamation officially declaring Tuesday, March 5th as "ORT Day" in Newton. Bigelow School pose of the letter, the PTA stated, was to get action to improve the student-teacher-administrative capability of the school. It added that specific action would depend on funds and space available, and if Bigelow is to remain, an architectural study should be scheduled and funded to provide a long-needed auditorium, a larger cafeteria, and a girls' outdoor playground, in addition to permitting enlargement of the existing over-crowded facilities.

Amplifying the letter's contents, Chairman Garry stressed the fact that his committee recommended that improvements be made this year, and pointed out that the building's maintenance had been badly neglected over a 10-year period.

The letter urged favorable action on the following proposals:

1—That, even with the considerations that the school be relocated at some future date, Bigelow's current needs and improvements should not be delayed.

2—That, should the planning decision indicate that the school will remain another 10 to 20 years, an architectural study be authorized.

3—That, major overdue repairs and improvements in lighting, soundproofing and decorating be scheduled on a capitalized cost basis.

4—That, a start on these improvements be made prior to the fall term this year.

Dr. McDaniel and William B. Baker also took the floor to stress the urgency of Bigelow's rehabilitation. At one point in the discussion it was asked if the PTA thought the building should be rehabilitated, and the reply was that "it looks as if the building is too good to throw away."

School Committee man Francis Frazier expressed the opinion that Bigelow was not the only school building in the city in need of rehabilitation.

"We must consider that," he said. Talk of including the Day

Junior High School in the proposed study followed.

Said Committeeman Manuel Beckwith, "Anyone seeking a new building for Bigelow is going to have a long, long wait."

To that, Frazier replied that he recalled hearing similar comments relative to the Horace Mann School, and that in consideration of the fact that there is now a new Horace Mann building going up, the Bigelow picture may not be as dark as described.

At the close of the Bigelow discussion, Chairman Freedman asked the hostess of the evening, Miss Bettina King, Meadowbrook principal, to describe a current project at the school.

Miss King told the committee about the 150 youngsters there who are ungraded, and not boxed in with a grade lower than their capability.

The project, as explained by Miss King and Miss McDonough, its co-ordinator, involves 50 pupils each from the 7th, 8th and 9th grades. The program is designed to fit their individual needs, they said, and the youngsters contract to accomplish as much as they feel they can. If it develops that one needs less study hours for mathematics than for English, the English schedule is increased, and the math days decreased. If anyone becomes over-ambitious, he is held in check.

Obviously impressed, Chairman Freedman asked Miss King what she would want from the committee next fall.

She replied that she would like to increase the number of the project's youngsters from 150 to 450.

Routine business accomplished by the committee included approval of a number of requests for use of school buildings for such activities as basketball games, piano instruction, chorus practice, rummage sales, bazaars and stage productions. Also, the committee confirmed recent faculty appointments and accepted resignations of Mrs.

School and Mrs. Mary E. De-

sai. Talk of including the Day

Corpus Christi Guild Holds Mardi Gras Ball

The Corpus Christi Guild of Auburndale held a gala Mardi Gras Ball last Saturday night in the church hall with most of the 200 guests arrayed in multicolored costumes of every variety. The hall was gaily decorated in the New Orleans carnival motif.

A "King" and "Queen" were chosen during the grand march held later in the evening. J. Philip Berquist as a "Maharaja" and Mrs. Mortimer Calden as "Little Nell" were selected as reigning monarchs.

Mrs. Joseph Walsh, president of the Guild, presented gifts to the winners and draped their shoulders with the royal purple robes as the Mardi Gras King and Queen. Mr. and Mrs. Orazio Vaccaro, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cogan and Governor's Councillor Mrs. Margaret Heckler were the judges.

Other features of the program included a Hawaiian hula by Karen and Francis Tom and general dancing to the music of Gil Boule's orchestra. The door prize was won by Harry Murphy. Priests of the parish attending were Rev. Thomas Murray and Rev. Edward Bouleware. Rev. John Feeney, pastor, was unable to attend due to illness.

The local goal is $8500.

"Crippling strikes one family in five every year," Rep. Bradley commented on being appointed. "It can happen through accidents, illness or at birth. Last year Easter Seals helped 1371 crippled children and adults overcome physical handicaps. I urge and support the co-operation of everyone in the drive to meet the increasing and changing needs of the handicapped."

Court Reverses Zoning Appeal Board Decision

The Middlesex Superior Court has reversed a decision of the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals which granted a hardship variance to Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Bergin of 86 Evergreen Ave., Auburndale, for a lot at 54 Evergreen Ave.

When the Turnpike Authority took their house at No. 86, the Bergins bought it back. They sought to have it moved to a nearby lot whose frontage was insufficient to meet the requirements of the zoning law.

It was ruled by Judge Thomas J. O'Malley that the zoning board exceeded its authority in granting the hardship variance. He said that "no substantial hardship exists so far as the buyer is concerned, financial or otherwise, as the buyer would have his deposit returned were the variance disallowed."

An appeal by Auburndale residents from the board's decision led to the court's ruling.

Turn Toward Peace Group Formed Here

Some 25 Newton residents met last week in the West Newton home of Atty. Herbert Weiss to organize a community council associated with Turn Toward Peace.

It was their feeling that the Council should function in this area to bring into focus the problem of an alternative to war or surrender, and it is their thought that membership will give, as no other presently organized group can, an opportunity to work for peace in an area which most appeals to the participant.

Miss Bartlett announced the annual membership drive will be from Mar. 18 to Mar. 23. The association, now in its sixth season, is the first and only continuous professional concert series Newton has ever had. World renowned artists have been presented each year. On Mar. 3, the Paris Chamber Orchestra, the first foreign group ever to be presented by it, will play at Newton High School.

Admission to Community Concerts is by membership card only, and it is hoped that members unable to attend will make their cards available to friends who have not yet joined. Music lovers interested in joining are advised to call any of the division chairmen or member of the board of directors.

President of the organization is Ernest Angevine of West Newton. Other members of the board are: Mrs. Charles Butler, William Cook, Mrs. George F. Brewer, Francis Chase, Mrs. Albert Kreider, Mrs. John B. G. Palen, Mrs. John B. Perkins, Miss Ruth Perkins, Mrs. Paul Pierce, Mrs. E. W. Pride Sr., Mrs. E. W. Pride Jr., James Remley, Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, Mrs. Benjamin Shattuck, Ivar Jostrom, Mrs. Herbert Stevens, Hon. Howard Whitmore, Mrs. Thomas Williams and Mrs. George Zafosky.

Anyone interested in joining is invited to seek information from any member of the Executive Council, whose members, chosen at last week's meeting, are: The Rev. Harold Pray, pastor of Eliot Church, Herbert Weiss, Eloise Houghton, Lawrence Cooke, Rona Shoul and Leonard M. Salter.
